

VOTE ON WOMAN SUFFRAGE TODAY

Resolution Before Congress for More Than 40 Years Taken up in House Today

Four Hours of Debate and Adoption of Resolve Before Adjournment Planned

WASHINGTON, May 21.—The woman suffrage resolution before congress for more than 40 years was taken up in the house today as the first real work of the extra session. Four hours of debate and adoption of the resolution before adjournment were planned.

The resolution is the historic Susan R. Anthony draft, proposing submission to the states of an equal franchise amendment to the constitution. It was adopted by the last house, 274 to 136 on Jan. 10, 1918, but twice failed in the senate, first by two votes and then by one.

Galleries Crowded

A large margin over the requisite two-thirds majority was predicted today. The vote was expected about 6 o'clock and large delegations of women from organizations favoring and opposing the resolution were in the galleries.

With favorable action in the house regarded as assured, senate leaders also were prepared to act promptly. They plan to secure a vote early next month and dispose of the resolution before work begins on the peace treaty, appropriation bills and other pressing measures.

With changes in the new senate suffrage advocates believe the resolution will succeed although by a small margin over the necessary two-thirds majority.

Rep. Mann of Illinois, republican, chairman of the house suffrage committee, was in charge of the resolution today in the house, while Rep. Saunders of Virginia was regarded as the opposition leader. The resolution was reported favorably yesterday at a busy meeting of the committee with republican leaders arranging to give it the right of way today.

It was pointed out that of the house membership today, 281 were members of the last house, 204 of whom had previously voted for the resolution, 109 against and one not voting.

THE VERY LAST CALL FOR TICKETS

The last call for board of trade members to secure tickets for the double-lecture program to be given to members of that body and their lady friends in Colonial hall this evening is issued by Secretary John J. O'Rourke. The board office will be open up until the time of the lecture this evening for the distribution of tickets. A ticket is absolutely essential for admission.

The speakers will be Judge George W. Anderson, who will talk on the League of Nations, and Capt. Jean Leighton, who saw service as a French liaison officer overseas with the 26th Division. He will tell of his impressions of the American soldier.

CASE SETTLED

City Solicitor William D. Regan has been notified that through Judge Lawton the case of the administratrix of the late Emeline Goyette vs. the city of Lowell, revolving around the death of Miss Goyette, who was but six years of age, as the result of an accident on April 2 when she was struck by a machine of the local water department, has been settled for $700. This amount is to be paid by the Massachusetts Bonding Co. The administratrix is Mrs. Josephine Goyette, of 146 Pawtucket street.

"SOUSE" DEMONSTRATION BY POLICE OFFICER

Perhaps you went to Keith's Theatre last week and saw the English comedian, Billy Reeves, give his famous impersonation of a "souse." Yes, Reeves had the right idea, but he has nothing on Patrolman Patrick Noonan as a "souse" impersonator. No sir.

In the case against William Beaton, who was called in police court today on charges of drunkenness and assault on a police officer, Patrolman Noonan, at the request of the attorney for the defense, demonstrated the manner in which a member of the anti-prohibition society propels himself when about three sheets in the wind. And that his demonstration was convincing was proven by Judge Fisher's decision. His Honor finding Beaton guilty on both complaints, Beaton was ordered to pay a fine of $20, and appealed.

15 PER CENT INCREASE

Notices of Wage Increase Posted in Local Mills This Forenoon

Notices announcing a 15 per cent increase in wages for all local cotton mill operatives were posted in the various Lowell mills this morning. The increase, which will affect about 25,000 men and women, will go into effect June 2.

Although it was learned from reliable sources last week and published in The Sun that a 15 per cent increase had been voted by the local mill trustees, official announcement of the action of the mill trustees was not made until last evening, when President John Hanley of the Lowell Textile council received the following letter from Stephen T. Whittier, secretary of the Lowell Cotton Manufacturers' association:

Dear Sir: I have been instructed to advise you in reply to your letter of the 15th inst., that notices announcing an advance of 15 per cent. in wages to go into effect June 2, 1919, will be posted in the mills May 21.

It was also learned this morning that the American Woolen Co. had posted notices in its various mills to the effect that a 15 per cent. increase had been granted to its employees, the increase to go into effect June 2. It is figured that about 1200 operatives in this city and suburban towns will be affected by the increase, for the men and women to benefit by the increase are those employed at the Bay State Worsted Co., the Ranshead and Wameest Worsted mills in this city and the Beaver Brook and Dracut Waste Co. in Dracut.

WILSON'S SHIP CANNOT ENTER ANTWERP

PARIS, May 21.—The American naval authorities have definitely decided that the steamer George Washington cannot enter the harbor of Antwerp as it is not deep enough. The question had been raised in connection with a plan for President Wilson to embark from Antwerp for home after visiting Brussels.

COURT STREET SEWER

The Court street sewer job, which was begun last March in an effort to provide a drain for certain portions of St. Patrick's cemetery and which was originally scheduled as a five-month proposition, will be finished by Saturday. Fifty-five men have been employed there on an average and the nature of the land made the installation of the sewer a most difficult proposition. Thomas E. Smith was foreman.

LOWELL MAKES GAIN IN POPULATION

Without considering the abnormal increase in Lowell's population in 1918 owing to the large number of war workers here, the records of the city clerk's office show that figuring merely on births and deaths, this city made a gain of 742 in her population last year. While there were 2473 deaths recorded, on the other hand, there were 3215 births to offset this.

These figures are contained in the annual report of the city clerk for 1918 on births, marriages and deaths, made public today.

There were 1667 males born in that year and 1548 females. Ward 6 had the record birth rate. There were 373 male newcomers in this ward and 372 females, or a total of 745. Ward 1 had the lowest rate: 101 males and 97 females.

There were 36 pairs of twins born in 1918 and Wards 5 and 6 were tied for honors, each having eight pair to its credit.

In addition to the 3215 births mentioned before, there were recorded also 67 other births wherein the parents resided out of Lowell and 31 births which took place outside of Lowell but where the parents were Lowell residents.

There were 1201 marriages during the year; of these, 1071 were solemnized in Lowell and 130 outside of Lowell. The marriage record for each month is as follows: January, 103; February 84; March 81; April 96; May 83; June 103; July 83; August 111; September 130; October 93; November 113, and December 76.

The record of deaths shows a total of 2473 for the year, 1270 males and 1203 females. A total of 157 Lowell people died out of town.

PAWTUCKET BRIDGE TO BE BLOCK PAVED

Ever since the new Pawtucket bridge has been open to travel there has been persistent complaint about the dust emanating from its cinder roadbed. Commissioner Dennis A. Murphy of the street department announced today that the first steps in relieving this condition had been taken this morning when a gang of his employees began the work of tearing up the old paving in School street from Pawtucket street as far as the bridge and in the square beyond the bridge at the beginning of Hammond road. The cinder bed on the bridge itself will also be removed.

Block-paving will be installed the entire distance. The work will necessitate the changing of the grade of School street. Although the Day State Street Railway Co. agreed with the city at the time the bridge was opened to have double tracks cross the structure, it is understood now that the company wishes to have only single tracks there.

MISCELLANEOUS SHOWER

Miss Agnes Sullivan, a well known young woman of this city, who is soon to become the bride of former Alderman Jeremiah Connors, was happily remembered last evening when a group of her friends gathered at the home of Mrs. Jeremiah Leary, 39 Pleasant street, to tender her a miscellaneous shower. The home had been beautifully decorated for the occasion with daffodils, while the color scheme was yellow. In the course of the evening a delightful musical program was given, while luncheon was served, a feature of the luncheon being a handsome bride's cake made by Mrs. John J. Gookin, which proved as delicious to the taste as it was delightful to the eye. Miss Sullivan was showered with appropriate gifts and best wishes. Those who assisted in making the event a most enjoyable one were Misses Mary E. Crowley, Clara Harrington, Margaret Lloyd, Katherine P. O'Brien, Irene Donnelly and Mrs. Thomas J. McCann and Mrs. Nellie Halloran.

NC-4 NOT TO START TODAY

Plan to Hop Off From Ponta Delgada to Lisbon Postponed

One Engine Not Functioning Properly, Says Admiral Jackson

WASHINGTON, May 21.—Although weather conditions were extremely favorable, Lieut. Commander Albert C. Read was unable to get the seaplane NC-4 away from Ponta Delgada today for the 800-mile flight to Lisbon, Portugal, because of engine trouble, which developed when the ship was being tuned up for the start.

Despatches to the navy department indicated that the motor trouble was not serious and officials expected Commander Read to get away at daylight tomorrow to complete the first transatlantic journey by air.

Commander John H. Towers, transatlantic flight commander, has recommended that the NC-1, which sank at sea, be stricken from the navy list as "lost at sea" and that the NC-3 be placed out of commission for rebuilding when she arrives in New York. The NC-3 is now being taken apart at Ponta Delgada, preparatory to being shipped home.

Lieut. Commander R. A. Lavender and Lieut. J. F. Eadsen, members of the crews of the NC-1 and NC-2 will return to the United States on the first government vessel leaving Ponta Delgada. The dismantled NC-3 will be taken to New York on the U.S.S. Melville with Machinist L. R. Moore, a member of her crew, in charge.

The destroyer has been placed at the disposal of Commander Towers and the remaining members of two crews who will proceed to Plymouth, England, the objective port of the NC-4.

WASHINGTON, May 21.—Resumption of the transatlantic flight by the NC-4 again has been delayed. A message to the navy department early today from Admiral Jackson at Ponta Delgada, said one of the plane's engines had developed trouble and that the start for Lisbon would not be made today. No mention was made of weather conditions.

The message read: NC-4 will not start today. One engine not functioning properly.

NC-4 NOW ONLY SEAPLANE IN RACE

WASHINGTON, May 21.—The naval seaplane NC-4, the only survivor of the fleet of three which last Friday left Trepansey Bay, N. E., for the Azores, on the first leg of the transatlantic flight, was awaiting today favorable weather conditions that would permit her to hop off for the second leg of the journey, Ponta Delgada to Lisbon.

The burden of carrying through the flight which gave such splendid indications of success until the three planes ran into a fog off the Azores early Saturday morning, was shifted solely to the NC-4 yesterday, with the announcement that the NC-1 had sunk and the NC-3, the flagship, had been so severely damaged, she then was being dismantled, preparatory to shipment back home.

The distance to Lisbon is about 800 miles, and it was stated the trip should be made in 10 hours.

VOTE MONEY FOR SALVATION ARMY

The regular meeting of the members of Lowell Aerie of Eagles was held last evening at their hall in the Harrington building, Central street, with worthy President David J. Hackett in the chair. Interesting reports were made by the hall and banquet committees, and the sum of $50 was voted for the Salvation Army fund. Twelve candidates were initiated and 15 applications for membership were received. It was announced that a recruiting contest will be organized and that two teams will be formed, the losing team to pay for the supper for both aggregations. Worthy President Hackett was endorsed by the meeting as a candidate to the state executive board. It was announced that delegates from the aerie will visit the Peabody aerie tomorrow evening and that a degree team will be formed to take part in the drill at the grand aerie convention to be held in New Haven, Conn., next August. At the close of the business session a social hour was held.

HAWKER GIVEN UP AS LOST

Hope for Safety of Daring Aviators Missing Since Sunday Abandoned

Members of Other Expeditions Undaunted by Disaster to Continue Flight

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., May 21.—Hope for the safety of Harry G. Hawker and Commander MacKenzie Grieve, missing since they set out Sunday in their Sopwith biplane for Ireland was virtually abandoned today by the British fliers preparing here for the transatlantic flight.

Undaunted by the Sopwith's disappearance, members of the other expeditions today continued to make plans for flights with the next full moon, three weeks hence. From Harbord Grace came word that the Handley-Page super-bomber would be in the air within 10 days.

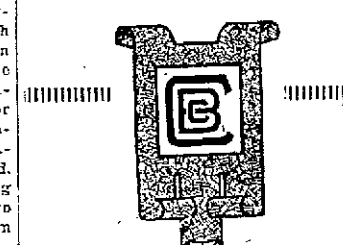

Captain Alcock of the Anglo-American team, which will attempt a flight in a Vimy bomber, expects his machine to reach here tomorrow or Friday. He will use as his base the Mount Pearl plateau airdrome vacated by Hawker. Flying light to Harbord Grace, there he will take on a full load of 565 gallons of gasoline before hopping off. His plane will have a range of 2400 miles. He will carry as life-saving equipment only an inflatable vest, as he considers other contrivances of such doubtful value that he will not burden his machine with them.

Some of the airmen here believe Hawker perished a short time after leaving St. John's.

The opinion is gaining ground that field ice and bergs extending for 100 miles off the coast affected the engines through the intense cold congealing the oil. The American airmen who flew to Trepansey from Rockaway, N. Y., found that this condition caused them serious inconvenience, disturbing all their engines and causing some of them to burn out.

CLOTHING DEALERS HAVE ORGANIZED

A large representation of the clothing dealers of the entire city met at the board of trade rooms this morning and voted to form a permanent subordinate organization of the board of trade for the purpose of promoting co-operation. Daniel O'Brien was the temporary chairman and it was decided to meet again next Wednesday morning at 9.30 to elect permanent officers. A set of by-laws will be drawn up at a meeting next Friday evening at 7.30.

TRIBUTE TO 26th DIVISION

PERSONAL MESSAGE OF APPRECIATION AND FAREWELL TO ALL MEMBERS FROM GEN. PERSHING

BOSTON, May 21.—A personal message of appreciation and farewell to members of the 26th (Yankee) division from General Pershing has been received at the headquarters of the Northeastern department, according to an announcement today. Sufficient copies of the message came for every member of the division to have one. The message reads in part:

As an individual, your part in the world war has been an important one in the sum total of our achievements. By willing sacrifice of personal rights; by cheerful endurance of hardship and privation; by vigor, strength and indomitable will, made effective through organization and cordial co-operation, you inspired the war-worn allies with new life and turned the tide of threatened defeat into overwhelming victory. In leaving the scenes of your victories, I ask that you carry home your high ideals and continue to live as you have served—an honor to the principles for which you have fought and the fallen comrades you leave behind."

GERMAN CABINET AGAINST SIGNING

Declares Allied Terms Spell

Economic Destruction, Political Dishonor

And Moral Degradation of German Nation Now and for Unborn Generations

BERLIN, Tuesday, May 20.—"Germany declines to sign the peace terms laid before it because they spell the economic destruction, political dishonor and moral degradation of the entire German nation not only for the present, but also for still unborn generations," was a statement authorized by the cabinet this morning through the Associated Press.

"That these consequences must logically follow acceptance of the peace conditions the American press itself has recognized without question," the statement continues. "Toward them Germany took the standpoint that acceptance of such conditions could not be demanded and that the entire was unjustified in imposing such demands."

Germany has not only a moral right to compliance with the general promises made it, but a firmly grounded, definite, clearly defined claim, according to the basic rules of international law, on all the entente powers and especially on the United States. A specific recognition of the right of Germany and of the German people to a peace of right, justice and reconciliation, instead of the paragraphed song of hate which was written at Versailles, is contained in the note of the American secretary of state, Lansing, of Nov. 3, 1918.

Quoted Lansing's Note.

"In the secretary of state notified the Swiss minister in Washington conditionally that the established basis of President Wilson's 14 points should be authoritative for the peace conference. Secretary Lansing announced further that the entente governments after careful consideration were also prepared to recognize the conditions set up by President Wilson as the basis for the conclusion of peace."

"The declaration of rights emanating from these specific declarations of all the entente powers and the United States constitutes Germany's sole asset in the general moral breakdown of all international politics which has found unsurpassable expression in the Versailles terms."

"Germany answers them with its clearly juridical right in international law. Toward the political-moral bankruptcy of Versailles the German nation stands as a creditor with undeniable rights and it is not in a position to yield on this chief point. Germany concluded peace on the basis of President Wilson's 14 points, which all America had made its own and all America, every individual, is responsible for the fulfillment of its claims."

"This means," says the agency, "that the allies desire to know whether Switzerland will consent to prohibit all exports from and imports into Germany, except those permitted by the allies during the war."

GIVE UP PLAN OF EARLY RETURN TO AMERICA

PARIS, May 21.—(Havas)—In addition to the abandonment of General Pershing's visit to London several of the higher American officers and certain members of the American peace mission, according to reports, have given up the idea of a return to America in the near future.

GERMANS SEND TENTH NOTE

Still Endeavoring to Secure Modifications of Allied Peace Terms

Premier Orlando Goes to Rome for Conference on Important Questions

Austrian Delegate Who Led Fight Against Italians

Ordered From Paris

(By the Associated Press.) While the definite statement that Germany will not sign the peace terms is made by the German cabinet through the Associated Press, Germany's representatives are still endeavoring to secure modifications of the terms. The tenth note from the Germans since they received the terms was forwarded yesterday to the secretariat of the peace congress.

Ask Extension of Time

The 15 day time limit for them to make known their standpoint expires tomorrow. Up to yesterday, at least the prevalent opinion in Paris was that notwithstanding their protests, they ultimately would sign the treaty. Today they ask for an extension of time.

Orlando Returns to Italy

Premier Orlando of Italy has gone to Rome for a conference with members of his cabinet on "certain interior and foreign questions." It seems probable, therefore, that the peace terms will not be presented to the Austrian delegation before Friday, when he is due to return to Paris.

Indicates New Development

In view of the fact that every effort has been made to bring about an agreement on the Fiume-DeMatina question before the peace terms are laid before the Austrian mission, it may be assumed that Orlando's trip indicates some new development in the work of adjusting the situation.

Ordered Back to Vienna

Judge Schumacher, who represented Tyrol on the Austrian peace delegation, has returned to Vienna. He was bitterly attacked by the Italians and the French press for his activities against the Italians at Trieste, where he was stationed during the war. It is said that Chancellor Renner, chief of the Austrian mission, sent him back to Vienna in the interest of harmony.

BROCKDORFF ASKS FOR MORE TIME

PARIS, May 21.—Count von Brockdorff-Rantzau, head of the German peace delegation, has asked an extension of time for Germany to present her reply regarding the peace terms.

He stated that further notes were being prepared and that it would be impossible to complete them by 1 p. m., Thursday, when the time limit is up.

ASK SWITZERLAND TO JOIN IN BLOCKADE

GENEVA, May 21.—(By the Associated Press.)—The allied and associated governments yesterday asked the Swiss federal council if it was ready to take rigorous measures concerning the blockade if Germany should refuse to sign the peace treaty, according to the Swiss Telegraph agency.

"This means," says the agency, "that the allies desire to know whether Switzerland will consent to prohibit all exports from and imports into Germany, except those permitted by the allies during the war."

One Cause of a Bad Complexion—the Remedy

"Look at a section of skin under the microscope and you will readily understand why cosmetics generally injure the complexion," says a well known physician. "The skin, smooth as it looks, is the naked eye, under the glass exhibits a network of tiny holes, mouths of myriads of little glands. To keep the skin healthy, these holes must be unobstructed, that the perspiration and natural oil can have free outlet. Should the glands be blocked up with irritating, gritty particles, a common result of using powders and creams, nature retaliates by causing sallowness, roughness, blotches or pimples."

"As a substitute for all cosmetics I recommend ordinary mercurized wax. It not only does what the various face creams do, but it also keeps the pores free from the daily accumulation of impurities, also absorbing the devitalized particles of surface skin. This produces a natural, healthy, youthful complexion. One ounce of this wax, to be had at any drug store, usually suffices to clear the complexion. It is put on nightly like cold cream and washed off mornings—Adv.

KERENSKY APPEALS IN BEHALF OF RUSSIA

PARIS, Tuesday, May 20.—(By the Associated Press) Alexander P. Kerensky and seven other members of the Russian constituent assembly and members of the Parliament union for the regeneration of Russia today issued an appeal to the democracies of the world for prompt action with a view to helping Russia out of her present chaotic condition. The appeal proposes that delegates from all the powers and including representatives of organized labor go to Russia and explain to the people and the different Russian governments the democratic aims the powers are pursuing. The appeal says: "It should be stated categorically that the different governments repudiate the idea of any intervention likely to infringe upon the sovereign rights of Russia."

THE METHODIST CENTENARY DRIVE

The Methodist Centenary drive is making good progress in Lowell, and it is expected that the closing day of the drive, next Sunday, will find the city over the top. The campaign is one of national scope, and was launched to raise $105,000,000 for home and foreign missions and extend the work of the Methodist church abroad during the world reconstruction period. Lowell's quota is $71,850. St. Paul's M.E. church has already subscribed for 75 per cent of its quota, and reports from the other M.E. churches of the city indicate that the drive will be a wonderful success here. The drive is being conducted along similar lines as the Red Cross and other welfare drives, and each church has placed teams in the field to assist in raising the desired total.

THIS COUNTRY IS SHORT ON BUTTER

(Special to The Sun)
STATE HOUSE, Boston, May 21.—The supply of butter on hand in the storehouse of the state is less by 375 per cent than that held at this time last year. In announcing this startling decrease yesterday, Herman C. Lythgoe, chief of the inspection division of the state department of health, said that in all probability it is explained by the fact that shipment of food to Europe is now unimpeded and the great demand for fats there is affecting the supply in this country. According to the reports coming to the department, there was stored in Massachusetts warehouses on May 1 last $22,387 pounds of butter. Last year the warehouses reported that they were holding 1,825,451 pounds. In his statement Mr. Lythgoe says: "The cold storage warehouses of this state have reported to the state department of health the storage of 17,750,000 pounds of food during the past month. The figures for last year were 28,000,000 and for 1917 at 16,000,000. "The storage of meat and fish is considerably less than during past years but the poultry storage is higher. The amount of eggs on hand is somewhat less than this time last year."

This is the third year in which the department of health has made an investigation of the amount of food stored throughout the state. Previously it had been unable to do this because of the absence of the necessary statute. Under the terms of the law enacted three years ago all warehouses storing food are required to make a monthly report as to their holdings. The result has been that much information has been secured tending to a more effective control of the food situation.

ARMY CAMP ON COMMON EXPORTS IN APRIL TOTAL

Detachment From Devens
Pitches Tents, Cooks Meals,
Looks for Recruits

A detachment of six men from Camp Devens, in charge of Sergt. Wenzel, 36th Infantry, pitched camp on the Thorndike street side of the South common yesterday and after spending the day getting the camp in order cooked their supper and retired when taps was blown at 10 o'clock. Their outfit consists of two regulation tents and a field cooking range and their stay is indefinite. The reason for their coming is to stimulate interest in all branches of the army and accept enlistments and while in Lowell they will run a model camp and give people an opportunity to see healthy living conditions existing in the army.

The Lowell camp is similar to others being conducted by men from Camp Devens in charge of Lieut. Victor M. Friar in Lawrence and Haverhill and in those two cities the enlistment results have been most gratifying, especially in the former town, where 125 men have been accepted in less than two weeks. The Lowell camp, while not connected with the recruiting office down town, in Merrimack street, nevertheless, works in conjunction with it. The camp, however, aims principally to secure men for Camp Devens, where enlistments are now open in the infantry, medical corps, quartermaster corps and motor transport branches of the service. Men will be taken for foreign service if they so desire, and every possible bit of information desired will cheerfully be given. The detachment will be in the vicinity of the camp every day to talk with prospective soldiers.

Much stress is being laid on the opportunities to acquire thorough educations in almost every conceivable trade through army channels and the many schools now being operated by the war department for enlisted men will be explained in detail.

Lieut. Friar is planning a big military demonstration for Lawrence tomorrow afternoon, when he will take a crack infantry company, a medical detachment and band to that city to drill on the common, demonstrate first aid treatment and give a concert. A similar demonstration is being planned for Lowell in about two weeks. Lieut. Friar announced this morning. Capt. Howard S. Reed, United States Engineer, also was in Lowell today as a representative of the adjutant general's department in Washington and will remain at Camp Devens as advisor and general supervisor of all recruiting work being done by the Ayer eastment.

The new luxury tax law, in section 901, levies a tax on "women's and misses' apparel." The internal revenue authorities have admitted that what merchants regard as girls' apparel no tax need be collected. The question when a girl becomes a miss, however, has not been decided.

WASHINGTON, May 21.—Exports from the United States in April surpassed the previous high record of last January by $2,000,000. The department of commerce announced the total today as $715,000,000.

Imports in April were valued at $273,000,000 or $6,000,000 less than in April 1915.

OFFICERS IN AIRPLANES TO TRAIL MOONSHINERS

WASHINGTON, May 21.—Moonshiners may soon have revenue agents in airplanes on their trail. Beset with difficulties of finding illicit stills in mountain fastnesses of the south, revenue agents developed the idea of spying upon the hidden liquor makers from the sky. So Revenue Commissioner Roper asked the war department for the loan of several airplanes which it is proposed to equip with telephotographic apparatus. While flying low the planes will photograph machine stills, the pictures to be used as evidence when the moonshiners are brought into court.

The war department is considering the request, but meanwhile army camouflagers suggest that stills might easily be concealed beneath trees. So now the revenue agents are pondering this new difficulty and continuing to hunt moonshiners afoot.

WEAVERS BILL UP TO THE GOVERNOR

(Special to The Sun)
STATE HOUSE, Boston, May 21.—The weavers' specification bill, which has had an exceedingly stormy career in the legislature, was passed to be engrossed by a large majority in the house yesterday afternoon and now goes to Governor Coolidge for his signature, as it had previously been passed through all stages in the senate. The bill, which it has been estimated will mean more money for weavers, was reported adversely by the committee on labor, but was substituted in the senate through the efforts of Senator John Halliwell of New Bedford.

After it had been passed through all stages the senate reconsidered its action and it looked as though the bill was doomed to defeat, as in former years Senator Halliwell made a strong fight for the measure and finally won out by the narrow margin of one vote. In the house yesterday Rep. Babcock of Milton spoke against the bill, saying the committee went to New Bedford and concluded that the employers and employees were able to settle their own differences without need of legislation. Despite his attack upon the measure there was no further debate and the house proceeded to pass it through its final stage on a voice vote.

at Jouy-sur-Morin (Seine-et-Marne), France, in July, 1918. While she was on duty at American Red Cross hospital No. 107, Miss Jeffery was severely wounded by an exploding bomb during an air raid. She showed utter disregard for her own safety by refusing to leave her post though suffering great pain from her wounds. Her courageous attitude and devotion to the task of helping others was inspiring to all her associates.

BARBERS' UNION
Seven new members were initiated and three applications for membership were received at the regular meeting of the Barbers' union, which was held last evening with President J. B. Curran in the chair. It was voted to keep the shops open Thursday afternoon, May 23, and to close all day Memorial day. The president was instructed to appoint a committee of ten to arrange for the state convention to be held in this city in the course of the summer. The union voted a substantial sum for the Salvation Army drive.

DISCARDED CRUTCHES AFTER TAKING NEW RHEUMATIC REMEDY, WELDONA

Joints Stiff and Swollen From Rheumatism. Not An Ache or a Pain Today. Man Tells Experience.

"Well I want to tell you how grateful I am for the wonderful change Weldon made in me," said Henry Everett of 38 Spring Street, Everett, Mass., recently at the Weldon headquarters.

Swollen Rheumatic Knees Respond to Weldon.

"I was in a very bad condition when I commenced to take this Weldon. My knee was swollen to almost twice its natural size, could not bend or move it. My back ached so that I could not bend over, or move in bed without agonizing pain.

"My shoulders were sore and stiff. It was impossible for me to get my hands to my head in the morning to comb my hair or put my coat on. My hands were also stiff and sore, especially in the morning. In fact I believe every muscle and joint in my body was sore and painful. My joints creaked like an old hinge and I was very much afraid that I would never be able to go about again.

"I was completely discouraged when I heard of this Weldon. I was just able to move about on crutches and even then it was torture. Every minute I was afraid someone would knock against me which would bring on another paroxysm.

"Two weeks after taking Weldon the swelling had almost disappeared from my knee. I continued to improve until I was able to discard my crutches. Gradually every sign and symptom of the disease left me so that I was able to return to work as well as ever. Enthusiastic about Weldon? Why wouldn't I be after suffering as I did and not finding anything until I took this Weldon.

Mr. Vincent will continue to meet the public every day and evening at Daws' Drug Store to explain more about Weldon and give out the free book, "Germs of Rheumatism—How They Live—How They Die."

HEROIC NURSE HONORED

Miss Jane Jeffery Awarded

D. S. Cross for Extraordinary

Heroism Under Fire

NEW YORK, May 21.—Award of the Distinguished Service Cross to Miss Jane Jeffery of Brookline, Mass., a Red Cross nurse, for extraordinary heroism in remaining at her post, although wounded, to care for invalid soldiers after two of them had been killed and eight wounded during a German air raid on the hospital at Jouy, France, was announced here today by the American Red Cross.

Until last June she was stationed at the repatriation depot at Evien, France, and during the second battle of the Marne, in order to be of greater service, at her own request she was transferred to the more hazardous post at Jouy. She has been in France since October, 1917. Gen. Pershing's citation reads:

"For extraordinary heroism in action

IRISH CAUSE AT PARIS

M. J. Ryan Makes Statement
for Irish-American Delegation—Urges U. S. to Act

Statement by M. J. Ryan on behalf of the Commission.

The Irish American delegation has returned to Paris, and according to a despatch to the New York World, from Michael J. Ryan has made a statement for the delegation in which he says: "We have just presented to the American secretary of state, Mr. Lansing, our request, as delegates from the Irish race convention, that he lend us his good offices to secure from the British government safe conduct from Dublin to Paris of Edward De Valera, Arthur Griffith and Count Plunkett, the elected representatives of the Irish people, so that the claims of Ireland may be represented by her own lawfully chosen spokesmen to the peace conference."

Not Eager to See Premier

"Ten days ago we were told that this action would be taken without the formality of an application, but announcement of it was to be deferred until after the interview that Premier Lloyd George desired to have with us had taken place."

"We were informed this morning that the premier had had a change of heart and that his proposed interview with us will not take place. I may say his decision gives us a feeling of great personal satisfaction. We accepted his invitation to meet him with reluctance and only because of his eminence in the control of his country, but we were all deeply cognizant of the possible dangers attendant upon it. "We could give him only our views and had made up our minds to make it very clear to him that the elected representatives of Ireland alone could speak for Ireland with authority and that we did not propose, even indirectly, to act for them."

Surprised at "Storm"

"That incident is closed, but what a commentary is upon the pretended justice of British rule that the announcement of a meeting of three plain Americans with the British premier could shake the British empire with storms of wrath and excite the press and parliament to fever heat! "With the interference of our Irish tour, which we never contemplated when we left the United States, we resume our work in Paris. We hope our request for safe conduct to Paris for President De Valera and his colleagues will be granted. When they come over, our work is ended."

"I do not assume that Great Britain will refuse permission to them. With what grace could England stand at the bar of the world and deny the right of Ireland to make her protest against England's rule? Is Ireland to be not only enslaved but muzzled?"

Our request through our own secretary of state puts the issue squarely before the British government."

Will Ask Conference to Act

If refused, we shall ask our peace

commissioners to bring the case before the peace conference. We want the rule of justice and goodwill on earth and we are firmly convinced it would be for the best interest of England, and conducive to her very lasting prosperity as one of the two mightiest nations on the globe, to recognize Ireland as an independent nation, withdraw her army of occupation and let the lawful representatives of Ireland function for themselves and in peace."

"England cannot exterminate the Irish. She has tried and failed and now the sons and grandsons of the Irish exiles rise up in menace to England. Will she read and profit by no lesson of the past?"

"I never saw Ireland until two weeks ago. I am astonished at the unity of her people; their enthusiasm and zeal amount to almost fanaticism. I have had experience in American campaigns with great crowds, but no comparison could be made with them and those I saw in Ireland."

"For ten days, from early morning to late at night, I traveled the land. The country roadways were lined with peasants, men, women, boys, girls, little children. At night, especially on our trip from Athlone to Galway, bonfires burned on a hundred hills and at railway stations great crowds of men, with blazing torches, rallied and sang 'The Soldiers' Song.' "There is no country in the world so overwhelmingly one as Ireland," Mr. Ryan said in concluding. "The men who direct the new movement are of extraordinary ability. I addressed Dail Eireann (the new Irish parliament) in Dublin and listened to their debates and I would rate the general of its members' ability as far above that of any representative assembly I have ever attended. It is made up of poets, dramatists, essayists, farmers, merchants and barristers—all splendid and determined men."

No Religious Intolerance

"They are absolutely destitute of any semblance of religious intolerance. Every church and creed is represented in their membership and the whole history of Ireland is an eloquent protest against the possibility of an enactment by Irishmen of a law interfering with liberty of conscience or freedom of worship. I know of no place in the world where, I believe, individual property would be so secure as in a republican Ireland."

"I saw or heard of police brutality and witnessed in Dublin and Westport military displays that rivaled those of Prussianism. But these are the common, ordinary incidents of British rule in Ireland, and are the outward evidences of an iniquitous system."

"It is the system which is the crime and it must go. So far as ordinary crime is concerned there is none in Ireland. The jails would be empty were they not occupied by 'political offenders' that is, by men and boys convicted by courts martial—ordinary law being largely suspended—of attending meetings or of marching and singing Irish ballads, or of crying out 'Up with the republic!'"

"I say with great regret that more murders and offenses against the person are committed in any one of our three or four leading American cities in ten days than in all Ireland in a year."

"Let the republic be recognized and the opportunity for peace and happiness be given the Irish people!"

Letter to Lansing

The Irish-American delegates are now awaiting an answer to their letter to Secretary Lansing, which runs as follows:

"Sir: On behalf of and representing the Irish race convention, held in Philadelphia on February 22 last, we very respectfully request your good offices to procure from the British government safe-conduct from Dublin to Paris and return for Messrs. De Valera, Griffith and Plunkett, the elected representatives of the people of Ireland, so they may present the claims of Ireland for international recognition as a republic to the peace conference."

"As you know, the British government asserted its intention to Ireland. We went for the purpose of conferring with the representatives of the Irish people and ascertaining their views for ourselves. At first hand, the conditions prevailing in that country. We have returned from there more desirous than ever that the authorized representatives of Ireland be given an opportunity to appear and present the case of Ireland to the representatives of the assembled nations."

"Awaiting a favorable and early reply, we are, sir, yours very respectfully."

"FRANK T. WALSH,
"EDWARD F. DIXON,
"MICHAEL F. RYAN."

HELPED TO WIN THE WAR

2000 War Devices From Inventions in All Parts of World Sent to U. S. Board

WASHINGTON, May 21.—The latest war secret to leak out is how friendly inventors all over the world gave to the United States their ideas for death-dealing machines for the destruction of Germany.

A companion secret is how all these ideas were kept from the enemy by the "seven serious sphinxes" of the patent office. This was a board of seven men, of unquestioned loyalty and sworn to secrecy, empowered to examine and withhold patents on war machinery until the war was over and meanwhile turn ideas of promise over to the government.

More than 2000 devices which it was thought might be of value to the United States or the allies were passed upon and 200 were important enough to get before military authorities. Some of them, it is said, helped to win the war.

The ideas came from England, France, Switzerland, Hawaii, New Zealand, Australia, Mexico, Spain, Italy, Russia, Poland and one came from Germany.

Of course, a larger number came from within the United States. Now that the war is over the patents are being allowed.

These activities of the patent office are disclosed in the current exposition of the interior department's work being held here.

The passenger coaches were not disturbed and passengers received practically no shaking up. Wrecking crews expected to quickly clear the tracks.

BOOMING TALKING MACHINES

This might be the greatest season to sell talking machines Lowell has ever known. War is ended. All our people are in the reactionary period. Music must help to get the popular mind back to its normal condition.

There are two successful ways to sell talking machines. One method is by personal solicitation—skilled collectors putting over the pep talk, leaving a machine in a home and coming away with a signature on a dotted line. But investigation shows that only one out of twelve talking machine collectors is successful. Selling talking machines is a hard art. With this 1 to 12 ratio, the personal solicitation method becomes too much of a gamble. It costs too much.

In this extremity the seller has to depend on newspaper advertising. He will not be in bad hands. He wants his ad to "do the talking about talking machines." It will—placed in the right medium. What is the right medium in Lowell? How can you get prospective buyers to read your ad in the evening when they have plenty of time? By putting your message in

KAISER'S INFLUENCE

Germany is still whining, and intermingled with her wailing is a howl against holding Germany alone responsible for the war.

Behind this contention undoubtedly the ex-kaiser and other branches of German autocracy are well represented and active. It may be regarded as a step in favor of the former emperor if a strong fight can be made against holding the German military authorities as primarily responsible for embroiling all Europe.

German autocracy is not dead, but it is secretly aiding the people in their effort to make trouble for the allies. It is fighting the treaty of peace and every phase of the negotiations at the peace conference. That is why but slight attention must be given to the opposition. There is talk of submitting the treaty to a referendum, just as there is talk here of submitting the League of Nations to a referendum. That is a scheme by which the opposition wish to shift responsibility and secure time.

The Germans can do as they please with the treaty, sign it or reject it. If they reject it, then the allies will occupy German territory and hold it under military rule until the people submit to the terms offered. Thus again, the German people are in danger of suffering from the baneful influence of the autocracy which this war was supposed to have destroyed.

The best policy for the Germans is to sign the peace treaty so that they can resume business under the new order of things. They should be thankful that they have been delivered from the bondage of the autocrats and placed under a government of the people, for and by the people. The reparation penalties are very heavy, to be sure; but none can tell why any better than the Germans who tried in every way possible to devastate every square foot of territory that fell under their sway. The Germans never can pay for the destruction they worked upon the nations they invaded. Even terms far more severe would be fully justified. There is no room for sympathy for the Germans in their objections to the peace terms. They should turn a deaf ear to the advice of the former autocrats if they want to end it all and get out of the difficulty as easily as possible.

EXODUS OF FOREIGNERS

Some people supposed that after the war, there would be a great rush of immigrants from the devastated countries to the United States. It seemed reasonable that the people surrounded by poverty and the ruins of what was formerly their country and their home would get heartsick of their surroundings and long for the freedom of the United States, of which they have heard so much from their kinsfolk already here.

It seems that this expectation is not to be fulfilled at least for the present. On the contrary, a great many of the foreign residents of the United States are hastening back to their native land to settle upon farms or to help direct the industries and the general work of reconstruction. Those who have saved considerable sums of money in the United States, realize that they can expend it to advantage in the countries now endeavoring to overcome the ravages of war. Land is cheap and so many of the men have been killed that there is a scarcity of young men, which in itself is an attraction to many of those who came to the United States intending to make their homes here.

It thus appears that instead of having to fear a great influx of immigrants, we are about to lose a vast number of those who have been working here for several years. This will result in a shortage of labor and undoubtedly an increase in wages for farm and factory help.

There has been a demand for action by congress to modify our immigration laws so as to keep out certain elements regarded as dangerous. There is little doubt that congress will take some action along this line. There will be a close watch maintained against immigrants coming from Russia. From that country the seed of Bolshevism has been imported and there is a determination here to stamp it out. We have had too many dangerous characters already and if a new law be necessary to prevent the admission of others, then it should be provided as soon as possible.

TO KILL THE LEAGUE

Republican senators are opposed to the League of Nations in any form. It is now very evident that they mean to kill it by so amending it that all that will remain will not be worth ratification.

But President Wilson's hand is seen in a little proviso in the treaty that may interfere with the republican plan of obstruction. It is provided that the treaty will take effect when ratified by any three of the largest allied nations such as France, England and Italy. If these three nations signed the compact and the United States refused, then our allies could resume relations with Germany, and the United States alone would hold up the termination of the war.

If the republican senators, through political dickering, should bring about such a situation, they would thereby incur the enmity of the people and, on the approach of a national election, they do not want to do this.

Thus they are placed in a dilemma in which they will find it difficult to carry out their plans against the League of Nations without losing prestige and support. But it must be remembered that whatever course will seem most expedient from the political standpoint, is the one that Lodge and Knox and the other republican senators who oppose the league will finally follow.

The peace of the world, the interests of the United States and the cause of humanity will all be held as secondary to the question of securing a republican victory next year. If it serves the republican purpose to kill the league, then the league will be killed so far as the United States is concerned.

The amendments offered have practically all been made; but the wily, nifty republicans are determined to withhold ratification, more through opposition to Wilson than to the league.

HAWKER

The whole world will deplore the death of Hawker and Griefs if it turns out that both have been lost in their attempt to fly across the Atlantic. No more daring effort can be recorded than that of Hawker to fly across the ocean without any of the safeguards provided even by the seaplane. He cut all the bridges behind him, so to speak, and dashed forward with sublime courage and determination to reach the goal. Even if he has not succeeded and if it appears that he perished in the attempt, his memory will, nevertheless, be honored as that of a hero and a martyr to the cause of aviation and its application to transatlantic service.

It was just a $5000 flier that caused the death of America's richest little boy the other day in Washington. Perhaps thoughtful people will remark that the money spent to buy toys for this rich little boy and in catering to his whims—a sum estimated to have been close to half a million—if directed in other sources would have saved the lives of a hundred thousand poor little boys who never had a chance. But we have to take people as we find them. We can all be sure that Mr. and Mrs. McLean feel just as sorry over the death of their bright little chap as would any other father and mother and you and I will be sorry for them too because there is a bond between all the mothers and fathers in the world.

Comi Von Brockdorff-Rantzau, head of the German delegation to Versailles, is to return to Berlin for instructions or perhaps to withdraw from the delegation altogether. He seems to be the opponent to signing and he may be supplanted or else instructed to sign. Much of the loud talk given out from German sources is undoubtedly intended to secure some mitigation of the terms; but there is but slight chance of any change being made.

The unfortunate population of Petrograd has now been advised by the soviet government to "leave without delay." The Bolsheviks have attained the unique distinction in desolating warfare of "making a wilderness" without the excuse of even calling it peace.—N. Y. World.

Terrible indeed must be the danger that would be worse on the people than the Bolsheviks. They would have nothing to lose after the Bolsheviks got through with them.

Original members of the League of Nations number 32 and 13 other nations have been invited to join, making a total of 45. Will any 1 ever venture to stand out against the other 44?—Globe.

Yet Senator Knox says it means national suicide for the United States to join such a league. Are we not fortunate to have a man like Knox to tell us of the danger that nobody else can see?

Do you recall the expression heard in recent months, "You've certainly got to hand it to those Salvation Army Sallies for their war work?" It's as true now as it was then. And this is the week to put the thought in action, by digging into your pocket and giving as much as you can to the army's home service fund.

The republican watch-dogs of the treasury will now proceed to tell us what vast sums of money have been wasted on war by the wicked democrats; but, we surmise, the people of this country are satisfied that they got their money's worth.

It will be small trouble to recall the names of the two pluckiest men we have heard of this week. Instinctively the names of the aviators, Hawker and Griefs, thrust themselves into one's mind.

Anybody who rides about the city in an auto will realize the great need of repair gangs to fill up the breaks in the macadam or tar surfaced streets.

THE MAN ABOUT TOWN

In an effort to add to the beauty of St. Patrick's cemetery and to make the appearance of graves there more uniform, the officials of the cemetery have ruled that there shall be no more curbing around the lots and that the lawn effect which has so beautified other burial places will now be in vogue. Formerly it was the custom to have a curbing surround each of the lots and, owing to the irregular heights of the curbs on the various lots, it gave a very jumbled appearance. The new regulations also specify that each of the corner-stones surrounding the graves shall be no larger than eight inches square and may be on a level with the top of the grave. In the past, these were also of varied sizes and did not enhance the beauty of the cemetery to any extent. The cemetery officials feel that these changes will do much to accentuate the natural beauty of St. Patrick's cemetery and the granite and monument men in that section tell me that although the new regulations will mean less business for them, they readily admit that the general effect on the appearance of the cemetery will be most artistic.

SEEN AND HEARD

Swat the fly!

Fresh lake trout well cooked and properly seasoned and with French fried potatoes on the side makes a pretty nice meal, we'll say.

The only fish that aids man in swatting the fly is the shooting fish of the East Indies? When it sees a fly on plants that grow in shallow streams it shoots a drop of water through its hollow cylindrical beak and knocks the fly into the stream. That's how it gets its breakfast, dinners and suppers.

Sport stockings in red, white and blue are the offering for the summer, says Betty Brown, the style writer, and she goes on to inform us, verbally, of course, "on a background of white are embroidered lines of red, white and blue with stars in the corner." Long may they wave!

There's a lot of temptation in this world, the least of which is not that which moves one to wallop a guy who blocks the way on a prepayment car while he dashes for the prize of a ride. Wish Everett True, the big fat man whose picture appears in The Sun's comic section would come to Lowell for a week. Some swatter is needed.

Prohibition in Lithuania. Prohibition, which grew up overnight in America, has long been an issue in Lithuania, the small Baltic republic that is asking for a self-government that it has long demonstrated its ability to use. Lithuania has a small brewery and a still in almost every home. It has little intoxication. And it has a prohibition society with one hundred and seventy-two branches and 25,000 members throughout the country.

Aero Fly-Cops

Big cities to have airplane police. "Fly-cops" as it were. War aviation had its "aces." Police aviation to have its "clubs." Have to bring down five second-story men to win the distinction. Airpolice, gets a frown out of cooks and nurse girls. And a grin out of peanut and banana peddlers. Still, the plane beat will have a touch of the old. All machines to be equipped with lamp posts for the patrolman of the clouds to lean on. Their job will be to pinch all cinders, ordinance-violating smoke, and the showers that hereto flooded ball games, picnics and parades. Pa's Example

I think report cards are a fake. I hate 'em, 'cause I got to take 'em home and then Pa gives me this 'You ain't no good' in the wits. 'Flesh of my flesh,' says Pa, 'my own, own son, and bone of my own bone! His, you can't do arithmetic.' By George," he says, "it makes me sick."

"Well, Pa, I says, 'here's an example That teacher calls an easy sample. So Pa, he read the paper through. And upside down and wrong side to, and says, 'That ain't arithmetic! His, you can't do arithmetic.' So then I showed it in the book. And Pa says, 'Why, the man's a crook! That wrote such trash.' It's just a sham."

A trick, I tell you. It's—O, ham! There ain't no sense to it. You go. And tell your blamed old teacher so. And I says, 'I tell her, too. It's an example you can't do?'"

And Pa says, 'Now, you quit your sass and study harder in your class.' Then Pa says, in a funny tone, 'There's no doubt, Pa, the boy's your own.' Just as you said, 'bone of your bone!'" —Edmund Vance Cooke. (Copyright, N.E.A., 1919)

MEETING OF 101st

LADIES' AUXILIARY

The 101st Ladies' auxiliary met last evening at the war work headquarters and among the matters taken up was a discussion of the present wrangle in Boston over the disposition of the so-called "Daisy day" and other funds subscribed for the 101st Infantry. It was stated that more than $7000 was sent from Lowell to Boston and that this city has not received one-quarter that amount in return. The local organization plans a further investigation. Mrs. George B. Marshall, who attended a meeting of the executive board in Boston Monday, made a lengthy report.

Plans are shaping up splendidly for the big banquet of the 101st Regiment to be held in Associate hall a week from tonight, May 28, for all Lowell members of the regiment. All members are requested to appear in uniform. Tickets will be sold next Thursday evening when the auxiliary will meet again and will also be on sale at the Merrimack Clothing Co. until next Monday.

A final meeting to perfect plans for the banquet will be held Monday evening. A memorial mass for the repose of the souls of the 101st Regiment members who lost their lives in the war will be held by the auxiliary on Memorial day at the Immaculate Conception church at 8.30.

James O'Sullivan addressed last evening's meeting briefly and was given a rising vote of thanks at the conclusion of his remarks.

SCALES WALL AND ESCAPES

Barney Charged With Murder of Policeman Flees From Suffolk Jail

Daring Dash for Freedom—Drops Down 30-foot Wall—Auto Whisks Him Away

BOSTON, May 21.—By the exercise of wonderful quick wit and exceptional agility and daring, Herman L. Barney, otherwise known as Louis Whitmore, 23 years old, of 19 Orvis road, Arlington, escaped from the Charles street jail at 2.30 yesterday afternoon, scaling a 30-foot wall. He was being held for trial on the charge of murder in connection with the shooting of Patrolman Charles E. Delinger of the Hanover street police station, who was killed by automobile bandits in a garage in Chelsea on the night of Feb. 12.

Barney's trial had been set yesterday for Monday, May 26, but at the time of his escape he did not know his trial was so near at hand.

Short Start Enough

Barney had hardly touched foot on soil outside the jail walls when the alarm was sent to the jail office and from there communicated by telephone to police headquarters.

Within three minutes after he gained his freedom jail officers were in pursuit and they traced Barney along Fruit street and through the yard of the William Blackstone school to Eaton street, where it was said he jumped into a waiting automobile and was driven away at great speed.

The young alleged murderer, from all indications, had calmly thought out and planned his escape without neglecting the smallest detail, and his complete success in an almost hopeless undertaking was due to his wonderful nerve.

In Cleaning Squad

Since Barney entered the Suffolk county jail in Charles street on Feb. 27 he has been a model prisoner. He was committed from the Chelsea district court, held without bail on the charge of first degree murder. He begged Sheriff John A. Kellier to give him some work to do and he was finally assigned to work with the inside cleaning squad. For about a month he has worked diligently and his behavior has been exemplary. Because he was a prisoner here for trial he was permitted to wear his own clothing, but when at work he wore a prison blouse and trousers over his own clothing to protect it.

Be Careful What You Wash Your Hair With

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali, which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is Mulsified coconut oil shampoo, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap and beats anything else all to pieces. You can get this at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in, about a teaspoonful is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy, and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.—Adv.

Yesterday Barney was working in a gang of eight prisoners, being the only one held on a serious charge. It has been the custom to give these men two hours' recreation in the yard after they finished their work. They finished work yesterday at 2.30 in the basement of the east wing of the jail, or the men's prison.

Jail Officer Patrick Brogie was in charge of the squad and formed the eight prisoners in line and opened the door leading into the back yard of the jail.

The regular recreation part of the jail is being rolled, and meantime the prisoners exercise in the back yard near the jail stable.

Guard Dropped Behind

The eight prisoners marched out into the yard, five carrying their cleaning buckets and scrubbing brushes. The squad walked along the asphalt walk, while Guard Patrick Brogie remained behind to lock the basement door of the wing.

The walk runs along beside the one-story prison kitchen, which extends out from the rotunda. At the end of the kitchen is a passageway, 6 feet wide and 20 feet long, between the kitchen and the women's recreation grounds. This passageway leads back to a side-down entrance to the women's laundry, which is another one-story building adjoining the kitchen. The laundry building extends back to the Fruit street wall of the jail yard and adjoins the north wing or women's prison.

When the prisoners marched out along the walk they were to turn to their right and proceed to the prison stable and leave their buckets and work tools.

Barney's Dash for Liberty

In the moment when Guard Brogie turned his back upon them to lock the basement doors of the wing which they had come through, Barney, the young man charged with murdering Patrolman Delinger, slipped out of the line, turned to his left and ran into the passageway at the end of the kitchen.

In an instant he found footing upon two bolt-heads in the laundry wall and, grabbing a water conductor with one hand and a water faucet with the other, he climbed to the roof of the laundry. It was not a difficult climb, for reporters afterward did it easily. It was a climb of about nine feet.

Once upon the roof, he ran across it to the Fruit street wall of the yard, passing by open windows looking into the women's prison, or north wing. If the women prisoners there saw him, they failed to give an alarm.

When Jail Officer Brogie joined the other prisoners in the barn, he did not miss Barney, and from the stable door he could not see him on the roof of the laundry because a high board fence inclosing the women's playground concealed the escaping man.

Mystery About Rope

Once at the wall Barney used a scaling rope in getting over. The rope was fastened to a stick which, thrown over the iron prongs at the top of the wall, held fast with the rope dangling down the side of the wall. There is no knowledge as to how Barney obtained it. The opinion of the jail officials is that he had outside help and that the ladder was thrown over the wall for him. They claim there is no rope like it within the jail bounds and all rope there is securely locked up. They also scout the idea that it was brought in to him and he smuggled it about with him under his prison blouse around his body.

It is a very stout rope and about 20 feet long, being knotted at intervals of 10 inches or so.

The wall where Barney went over is

What Doctor Pierce Has Done For Humanity

BY DOCTOR CRIPPS.

It has always seemed to me that Dr. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., should be placed near the top when a list of America's great benefactors is written. He studied and conquered human diseases to a degree that few realize. Whenever he found a remedy that overcame disease, he at once announced it in the newspapers and told where it could be bought at a small price. He did not follow the usual custom of keeping the ingredients secret, so that the rich only could afford to buy the medicine, but openly printed the name of each root and herb he used. And so today the names of Dr. Pierce and his medicines are widely known, and they stand for better health and better citizenship.

One of this great physician's most successful remedies is known as Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. These are little, sugar-coated pills, composed of Mayapple, leaves of aloe, root of jalap—things that Nature grows in the ground. These Pellets are safe because they move the bowels gently, leaving no bad after-effects, as so many pills do. Very often they make a person who takes them feel like a new man or woman, for they cleanse the intestines of hard, decayed and poisonous matter that accumulates when one is constipated. If you are constipated, by all means go to your druggist and get some of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They may prove to be the very thing your system requires to make you well and happy.—Adv.

30 feet above the level of Fruit street, and it is surrounded by a wrought iron, double turn-in, prong fence of the regulation prison character.

Whether Barney carried his rope with him, or it was thrown over to him by outside confederates, it was ready when he reached the side of the wall. He quickly discarded his prison blouse, and grabbing the knotted rope, scaled the wall. Reaching the top of the wall, he pulled up the rope and dropped it down on the outside of the wall into Fruit street. Then he displayed most remarkable ability in surmounting the double-pronged iron fence, grabbed the rope and let himself down into Fruit street hand over hand.

Seen by a Guard

An incident which almost proved fatal to his hopes happened at the moment when he went over the iron fence on the top of the prison wall. James Mahoney, jail guard, was inside the women's playground of the jail yard. Glancing up Jail Officer Mahoney saw Barney just as he went over the iron fence and started down the rope into Fruit street. Mahoney was unarmed because he was working alone in the yard. He shouted at the top of his voice, and then hastened into the main jail yard and to the jail stable, where he telephoned to the jail office of the escape. Officer Brogie instantly mustered his remaining seven prisoners and marched them back into the east wing, while Officer Mahoney hastened to the office.

Upon putting his feet upon free soil in Fruit street, Barney quickly kicked off the prison pants and ran through Fruit street to the Blackstone school yard, crossed it to Eaton street, where he supposed to have got into an automobile and was driven away. A girl nine years old told the jail officers she saw the man running along Fruit street, across the school yard and out into Eaton street, where he got into an automobile and was driven out into Cambridge street.

Parasit Prompt

John J. Horgan, chief clerk of the jail, telephoned to police headquarters the moment he was told of the escape of Barney. He also telephoned the Arlington police to be on the watch for Barney, who might attempt to go to his home in that town.

Jail guards were sent in groups of three in all directions in the effort to capture Barney before he got out of the locality. Clerk Horgan commandeered the automobile of a clergyman which was in the yard and drove out through the surrounding streets. In an effort to apprehend Barney, Deputy Sheriff John J. Casey and jail officers took up the pursuit.

Sheriff John A. Kellier immediately began an investigation.

It developed that the only persons who have visited Barney are his foster father and his attorney, Thomas P. Murphy of Cambridge. His foster father telephoned Sheriff Kellier the moment he learned of the boy's escape and he extended his sincere sympathy to the sheriff and said he would call on him at once.

The prisoners held at the jail with Barney in connection with the murder of Patrolman Delinger are John J. Dillon, alias "Chick," and Joseph J. Shirley, and they were interviewed by Sheriff Kellier, who grilled them for an hour, but obtained no information from them. They told the sheriff they had no knowledge Barney was planning an escape and surely had no part in it.

Mamie O'Brien, who has been credited with being Barney's sweetheart and who was also arrested in the case, is at liberty, she having furnished surety for appearance in court. A chauffeur who was arrested in the case is also out on bail.

Sheriff Kellier said he shall not worry about the escape of Barney, for he will surely recapture him. He said he shall not alter his policy of humanitarianism at the jail. He said Barney has always been a model prisoner. He was not convicted of a crime, and accordingly was treated with the kindness and consideration accorded all persons held awaiting trial.

Sheriff Kellier said that he has been waiting for means and authority to make improvements at the jail, and had they been completed Barney could not have escaped in the manner in which he did yesterday. He explained that he is short of employees at the jail, and yesterday afternoon, owing to the absence of jail officers by reason of sickness and days off duty his staff was curtailed.

When he escaped Barney wore a cap, blue trousers and a blouse. He is described as 5 feet 6½ inches tall and weighs about 165 pounds. His age is given as 23 years. He is an expert stenographer.

PRICE FOR CEMETERY LAND TOO HIGH

After a long drawn out discussion the cemetery commissioners at their special meeting into yesterday afternoon went on record as refusing to pay $60,000 for 32 acres of land owned by Erasmus Bartlett near the present cemetery off Gorham street which the commissioners would like to secure to enlarge the present burial places. The assessed valuation of the land in question is but $9,000.

Charles Rowland represented Mr. Bartlett and said that he was empowered to submit but one proposition to the commissioners—five cents a square foot for the 32 acres with an additional 20 acres thrown in. The commissioners felt that the 20 acres would be of no use to them and that the price was too high.

City Solicitor Regan was present and an opinion from him in which he stated that land could be seized by the right of eminent domain for cemetery purposes was read. Mr. Regan then explained the necessary procedure. There followed a long discussion in which Mr. Rowland maintained that he had only one proposition to advance. No agreement could be reached on the price and finally the meeting adjourned.

WOMEN ARE CARELESS

This has been proved over and over again during the war. They over-estimate their physical strength and overtax it. Their ambition is commendable, but does not compensate for the hours and days of misery which they suffer from symptoms caused by female ills brought on by overwork. Women who are weak, nervous, despondent, with headaches, backache and dragging-down pains should remember there is one tried and true remedy, that is Lydia E. Letters From Lowell Soldiers

Private John J. Dillon writes as follows to his mother, Mrs. John Dillon of 1028 Gorham street, from Westersburg, Germany, where he is serving with the fifth machine gun battalion:

Dear Mother: Just a few lines to let you know I am well and hope this note will find you all in the best of health. I am sending you a photo of myself and comrade, also a Lowell boy, Sgt. Henry H. Rice of 23 Dutton street. He was employed at the Appleton mills. He enlisted in June, 1917, and was one of the first members of the fifth machine gun battalion to come across and has been in every battle. He was wounded several times but wouldn't go to the hospital. Some girl, I'll say.

In the Champagne drive Oct. 3, 1918, the first morning "over the top," he smashed two fingers of his right hand and was in the fighting for 10 days with his hand in a sling. He has won a cross for bravery.

We were three days without water or food at one time and when we did get it he made us stay in our foxholes while he would bring our food. He thought it was better for one to get "bumped" off than ten or more. He certainly is a pal to be proud of. I am going to bring him home with me. Recently we had our famous hike from Letanne to Westersburg, sleeping in barns and out of doors most of the time. We passed through Vorton and slept one night in Arlon, Belgium. Every place we passed through we got a great reception. The people called us their "liberators." We had our Thanksgiving dinner in Luxembourg and stayed two nights in Rodendack, Germany. From there we came to Westersburg where we had our Christmas dinner. We expect to remain here until it is time for us to sail for home.

Your loving son,
JOHN.

Corp. William Chain, who is overseas with Co. M of the 58th Infantry, Fourth Division, writes to The Sun as follows:

Dear Friend: Today is Sunday and I have just come back from church. I am now in Western, Germany. This is five miles from Coblenz. My division, the fourth, is taking the place of the 12d, which has gone home. We are doing guard duty in two towns, Sigis and Western, and we sure make the Dutchmen snap around. They like us all the better for it. I certainly have done a lot of hiking over here. We hiked from France into Germany in 15 days with a pack, gas mask, helmet and overcoat to a place called Gorden on the Moselle river. We stayed here three months and then hiked to Western, 40 more miles. The next time we move I hope we move toward home. All the boys are longing for that day for we have had our share of the war and want to get back to the good old U.S.A.

On the 15th of July we went "over the top," the beginning of the big drive. We were on several fronts and were then relieved by the 77th Division and went back for a two weeks' rest in St. Jean where there was a big St. Michel front and then to the Argonne forest where I was gassed. That forest sure was a hellhole and we were glad when we were relieved on Oct. 22.

The weather here is very cold and today it is snowing hard and it is terribly muddy. I have been receiving The Sun every day for two months and it sure is a treat. I enjoy reading it very much and then I pass it around to other boys from Massachusetts. Before we got through with it half of the company has read it.

Yours,
WILLIAM CHAIN.

Taxiarchis Protopapas of 436 Market street has received the following letter from Private Socrates Vaites, who is overseas with the 315th Machine Gun Battalion:

Dear Friend: We are going home, according to the latest dope around here now. We are turning in our extra equipment gradually and the stock and wagons will be turned in in a day or so. I can think of nothing else but home. Enclosed you will find some notes I made. I came near getting a D.S.C. by capturing a machine gun and killing the gunner, only the German had died because he was hit by a shell some time previous. When I found myself in front of his gun I thought I was up against a machine gun nest, so I fired my pistol and "killed" him again. Yours,

An important conference between the selectmen of Billerica and Engineers F. C. Pillsbury, Sablin and Delano of the state highway commission was held in the town Monday relative to the completion of the Lowell street construction job, which was started last year by the town and highway and county commissioners. The engineers protested against the alleged exorbitant price paid for stone by the town and they informed the selectmen that under the circumstances they will not share the expense. SALE OF 750,000 TONS OF AMERICAN STEAMER SHIPS TO BRITISH SUNK BY MINE

NEW YORK, May 21.—The proposed sale to a British syndicate of the British-owned ships and assets of the International Mercantile Marine Co., a transaction involving five British companies and 750,000 tons of shipping, valued at approximately $135,000,000, was approved yesterday by the board of directors and finance committee of the company. A stockholders' meeting to vote on the proposition was called for June 18.

The transaction was declared by P. A. S. Franklin, president of the company, to be the largest record in the history of shipping.

American and Belgian vessels owned by the International are not affected by the projected transfer, according to Mr. Franklin. He added, he did not know what disposition the British syndicate intended to make of its acquisition, about 50 per cent. of which is represented by ship tonnage and the balance by securities and cash.

Refutation of the sale by the stockholders will end a year of negotiations, interrupted by an offer of the United States government for the ships which was recently withdrawn.

Statement That Mrs. Wilson Made Airplane Trip

PARIS, May 21.—A statement appeared in a Paris paper today that Mrs. Wilson had made a trip yesterday in an airplane over Versailles and its suburbs. The report was denied at President Wilson's Paris residence.

THE OVERLAND CLUB

The first annual dancing party of the Overland club was given last evening in Lincoln hall. The attendance was large. Markham's orchestra first gave a concert program and then furnished music for the enjoyable dancing program. William S. Robinson was in general charge of the floor and other arrangements assisted by the following men, Peter J. Gill, John J. McOsker, James Markham and John F. Roane, Jr.

The Man Who Loved Good Desserts

"There goes Edith Bradford," said Mrs. Knowlton as she and Mrs. Winton were sitting on the porch sewing one afternoon. "She and Bob certainly seem happy together."

"I am sure they are," answered Mrs. Winton. "and that reminds me of something funny that happened before they were married. One day Edith came to me in the greatest excitement."

"What am I going to do?" she exclaimed tragically. "Bob's mother has just told me he could live on cornstarch pudding and blanc mange, and I simply cannot make either one."

"She was so serious about it, it was laughable."

"Never mind," I reassured her. "There is Pudding."

"Pudding?" she questioned. "What is it?"

"A most wonderful dessert—rich and creamy and luscious."

"How do you make it?" said Edith. "Why you just add sugar and milk, either fresh or condensed, and boil it for three minutes. Out it comes, after it's cool, a firm, creamy mold of luscious, rich dessert."

"Well, I'm certainly glad to know it," sighed Edith. "But mother is such a wonderful cook!"

"I know you'll both like Pudding," I said. "and it comes in any number of flavors—chocolate, rose, vanilla, almond, spice and several others. And then you can make rich, creamy pie and cake fillings with Pudding, and you can even make ice cream with it."

"I suppose you'll finish, however," said Edith, "by telling me it's expensive and so rich that one can't eat much of it anyway."

"I told her that a 15c box served 15 people, and was very wholesome. Shortly after she was married I was talking to her again. 'Oh, Mrs. Winton,' she said, 'how can I ever thank you? Pudding is wonderful. Bob raves about my desserts, and Pudding has done it all.'"

OPEN ALL DAY THURSDAY

A glimpse of Uncle Sam's "Bedside University" at Letterman General Hospital, where maimed dough-boys are mastering trades that undo the handicap inflicted by the Hun. The boys are taught everything from draughtsmanship and cartooning to the gentle art of walking on wooden legs.

MAIMED HEROES LEARN TO FORGET LOST LIMBS AT UNGLE

SAM'S "BEDSIDE UNIVERSITY"

(N. E. A. Staff Special)

SAN FRANCISCO, May 17.—Below the neck a man is worth about $2 a day. Above the neck he may be worth $1,000,000 cash down.

That's the theory behind Uncle Sam's new "Bedside University" for heroes.

Every military and naval hospital in the United States is part of the Bedside University. In these hospitals Uncle Sam is serving out practical education to wounded fighting men—training them to meet practical problems of earning a living.

No veterans of the army that won world-freedom will ever beg on the streets outright or under the guise of peddling—not if the war department can help it.

Uncle Sam's Bedside University beats anything done by other nations. Germany, her manpower depleted, is fitting her men with ingenious false arms and legs so they can make a stab at their trades—30 per cent efficient. England and Canada are doing the same. But the United States is teaching each man a trade at which he can be 100 per cent efficient.

For example, Private John Doe. Before the war he was a barber, earning $25 a week. He stood all day. At Belleau Wood a shell tore away his right leg.

Were Private Doe a German or Britisher, he would still be a barber, standing on a false leg—a painful process. But when he graduates from Bedside University he won't be a barber at all, but a linotype operator, able to make $50 to $40 a week—and sit down at his work.

His war loss becomes a peace gain. Letterman General Hospital has the largest training school of this sort in the west. Major Cullimore, in charge, sympathizes with his men. He left an arm in Europe.

Here men are learning again how to walk. The beginners toddle like babes; those more advanced walk like boys on stilts; some stride along with hardly a limp, learning to step over obstacles.

In a nearby field, on puffing tractors, soldiers learn farm chauffeur, run seeders, bladders, harrows, reapers, electrical milking apparatus, cream separators. There are classes in soil analysis, stock breeding, farm management. These men will be useful.

enemies of this army education are the loving folks at home who insist on having their boys back before they are entirely cured. There have been cases where "grasped" men, to all appearances cured, have yielded to their loved ones, returned home too soon, contracted tuberculosis and died.

It's Uncle Sam's regard for his maimed heroes against the more shortsighted love of the heroes' families.

ST. PETER'S CHORAL BANQUET
The annual testimonial banquet to the members of St. Peter's choir was held last evening in the banquet hall of the New American hotel. There were more than 30 present and among them were Rev. Daniel J. Keleher, Ph. D., pastor of St. Peter's; Rev. Peter T. Linehan and Rev. Francis L. Shea. An informal program of speechmaking was carried out and included remarks by Rev. Dr. Keleher, Rev. Fr. Linehan, Rev. Fr. Shea, John Roane, John Townsend, Lawrence Delaney and Miss Gertrude Quigley, organist at St. Peter's. Later a musical program was carried out.

RECEPTION TO THE ENGINEERS

Capt. Frank C. Pelletier and His Men Honored at Associate Hall

Speeches by Mayor Thompson and Others—Hon. Jas. E. O'Donnell Toastmaster

LOWELL—WITH CITS-RECEPTION
Capt. Frank C. Pelletier and the other Lowell "boys" who served in the 14th Railway Engineers in France and who have the distinction of being a part of the first American unit to be under shell fire in France, were tendered a rousing reception last evening by the railroad men of this city. The reception was in the form of a banquet held in Associate hall, a sort of a family gathering, so to speak, and all formalities were set aside and a general good time was in order. Some of the boys who had just completed their day's work and others who were about to start were attired in their working clothes, but that did not phase them a bit, for they were there for one purpose, and that was to pay a tribute to their brethren who had done so much to win the great world war.

CAPT. FRANK C. PELLETIER

The banquet was attended by about 200 men, representing all branches of railroad work. In the early part of the evening a very appetizing dinner served by M. A. Lyden, the well known caterer, was discussed and later post-prandial exercises, including vocal selections and speeches, were held, the speakers being Hon. James E. O'Donnell, who acted as toastmaster, Mayor Thompson, Capt. Frank C. Pelletier, Sergt. John J. Donovan and Frank Brown. Vocal selections were given by Commissioner James E. Donnelly, Martin Mazure and Edward Donohoe. John Healey rendered piano selections and acted as accompanist during the evening.

The post-prandial exercises were opened by John H. Shea, who introduced the toastmaster. In opening Mr. O'Donnell complimented the soldiers for their efficient work in France and stated that they reflected credit upon the city, the state and the nation. He spoke about their willingness to enlist and brought back reminiscences of the send-off given them at Rockingham park a short time before they left for "over there." "You were the men," he said, "who took care of the transportation of food and troops through the fighting lines and it is with great credit that you have accomplished your duty."

The first speaker introduced by the toastmaster was Mayor Thompson, who was given quite a reception. "His Honor said there is no man in this city who is not connected with railroading who is more entitled than he to become a member of the brotherhood, and he gave his reasons for such a statement. He said that when he was a boy living at Ocean Park, Me., there was a small railroad going through the village and it was his duty to put up a flag at the station. "And when the engineer or fireman was having his dinner," he continued, "I rang the bell and blew the whistle. I can say right here that the first dollar I earned was on the railroad."

Addressing the soldiers, His Honor said: "We are proud of you men who have been across. We were proud when you enlisted and went away because you were the very first to leave America for the cause of democracy and now that you have accomplished your work heroically, we are more proud to welcome you home. As the mayor of the city, I extend you a cordial welcome as well as my congratulations, and in behalf of the city I thank you for the valuable services rendered this country and the allies."

Mr. O'Donnell then came back with the statement, that he too was entitled to a membership card in the brotherhood for "my father was a railroad man up to about 25 years ago," he said, "and when I was a boy I was always on a train."

When Captain Pelletier was introduced he was cheered to the echo. "You're not going to hear any oratory," he said in opening, "for all I am good for is to shoot off my wind around the yard, as some boys say." The captain then related the incidents in connection with his enlistment two years ago and told of the organizing of his company, its sojourn at Rockingham park, its voyage across the "pond" and the great reception tendered the boys in London. He stated that the 14th Engineers was the first American unit to go under shell fire at the front, being ahead of the 12th Engineers by about 24 hours. "In March, 1918, we took part in the great drive," he said, "and the boys did excellent work. Shortly after our arrival across we took hold of the railroads and I found that our hardest problem was to have the American engineers and men run their trains slowly. We knew the territory from a to z for if we didn't we would have lost 50 per cent of our men."

"We had several narrow escapes while on duty, but fortunately we always managed to pull through all right. I remember we had pitched camp in a small town near Boulogne and we had not been there more than 35 minutes when we received orders to move quickly. We followed instructions and we had no sooner left than the Germans dropped shells at the very spot where we had pitched our tents. En route we were shelled by the boches and two of the boys of the regiment were killed while a few were wounded. We kept the railroads going and we dug trenches for the soldiers, and one of our biggest jobs was to keep the boys away from the front, for they wanted to fight, but we were not there to shoulder the rifle. At Calais we built a broad gauge railroad around the city and later we built a small bridge across a river."

The captain then related his experiences in a flight in an airplane over the German lines under heavy fire. In concluding, Captain Pelletier said he was very fortunate for he lost but one member of his company and that was Corp. Surprenant, who was taken ill with pneumonia. "While on duty I was strict with the boys, but they knew me and I may say that I returned with more friends than I had when I left. I am overjoyed with the mark of esteem you are showing us this evening and I hope that when I take up my duties of yardmaster next

July you will all be as loyal as of yore."

Sergt. Donovan was also given a rousing reception. His speech dealt with the trouble he had in enlisting on account of his age, and said in order to go through he was forced to make a mistake of a few years. He said while in France he always tried to look after his work as he did after Pawtucketville, when he was patrolling that district. The last speaker was Agent Frank Brown, who extended his felicitations and best wishes to the soldiers.

Those in whose honor the festivities were conducted were as follows: Capt. Frank C. Pelletier, Sergt. Thomas J. Baxter, Sergt. Alden Harris, Sergt. Ralph B. Snelling, Sergt. John J. Donovan, Horseshoer John J. Kennedy, Waggoner Charles A. Hutchins, Private Arthur L. Messier, John W. Stocks, Arthur Backus, John J. Cryan, Albert Reid and Edward Leblanc.

The committee in charge of the affair consisted of Albert J. Caron, chairman; Sydney L. Aldrich, treasurer; J. M. Shea, F. Dean and T. E. Murphy.

Famo Destroys Dandruff Bacilli

Science has perfected a wonderful preparation that stops Seborrhea (the medical term for dandruff) by killing the dandruff microbe.

Its name is FAMO, and it is a product of one of the famous pharmaceutical houses of Detroit.

The ingredients have never been used on the scalp before but they are well known to physicians.

As fast as nature grows new hair the Seborrhea germ kills it off.

Unless you destroy the germ with FAMO, the new hair will grow weaker and weaker and baldness finally will result.

FAMO destroys the dandruff bacilli and makes new, luxuriant hair grow. FAMO actually retards grayness. It contains no alcohol. It stops all itching of the scalp.

FAMO should be used daily by every member of the family, even by those who have no dandruff. It keeps the hair healthy and beautiful and prevents seborrhea.

FAMO is sold at all toilet goods counters, also applied at the better barber shops. It comes in two sizes—a small size at 35 cents and an extra large bottle for $1.

Seborrhea is the medical name for a morbidly increased flow from the sebaceous glands of the scalp. The seborrheic excretion forms in scales or flakes and is commonly known as dandruff.

The guests of the evening included Governor Calvin Coolidge, Lieut. Gov. Channing H. Cox and Capt. Jean Le Maitre, who is to speak in Lowell this evening under the auspices of the board of trade.

HAWKER GIVEN UP AS LOST

Hope for Safety of Daring Aviators Missing Since Sunday Abandoned

Members of Other Expeditions Undaunted by Disaster to Continue Flight

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., May 21.—Hope for the safety of Harry G. Hawker and Commander MacKenzie Grieve, missing since they set out Sunday in their Sopwith biplane for Ireland was virtually abandoned today by the British fliers preparing here for the transatlantic flight.

Undaunted by the Sopwith's disappearance, members of the other expeditions today continued to make plans for flights with the next full moon, three weeks hence. From Harbor Grace came word that the Handley-Page superbiplane would be in the air within 10 days.

Captain Alcock of the Anglo-American team, which will attempt a flight in a Vimy bomber, expects his machine to reach here tomorrow or Friday. He will use as his base the Mount Pearl plateau airfield vacated by Hawker. Flying light to Harbor Grace, there he will take on a full load of 865 gallons of gasoline before hopping off. His plane will have a range of 2140 miles. It will carry as life-saving equipment only an inflatable vest, as he considers other contrivances of such doubtful value that he will not burden his machine with them.

Some of the airmen here believe Hawker perished a short time after leaving St. John's.

The opinion is gaining ground that field ice and bergs extending for 100 miles off the coast affected the engines through the intense cold congealing the oil. The American airmen who flew to Trepassy from Rockaway, N. Y., found that this condition caused them serious inconvenience, disturbing all their engines and causing some of them to burn out.

TOO LATE FOR GERMAN DENIAL

Premier Clemenceau Replies to German Note On Reparations

Sought to Deny Both the Aggression in the War and Responsibility

PARIS, May 21.—It is too late for Germany to seek to deny both the aggression in the war and her responsibility for it. This declaration is made by Premier Clemenceau as president of the peace conference on replying to the German note on reparations, the text of which with the reply was made public last night.

The argument put forth by Count von Brockdorff-Rantzau is that Germany did not start a war of aggression, that the German people were convinced they fought a defensive war and that the present German government cannot be held responsible for faults of the former German government.

Premier Clemenceau declares that the German government last November made no protest against the charge in a note of Secretary Lansing that Germany was the aggressor. The reply points out further that Germany made the French government of 1911 and the Russian government of 1917 responsible for the acts of the imperial regimes in France and Russia.

IRISH DELEGATES ASK WILSON FOR HEARING

PARIS, May 21.—The American representatives of Irish societies, who are in Paris, have requested President Wilson to give them a personal hearing on the application they desire to have made to the British government for permission for Edward de Valera and other Sinn Féin leaders to come to Paris to present Ireland's case to the peace conference. Their request was originally made to Secretary of State Lansing and by him referred to the president.

WILSON'S SHIP CANNOT ENTER ANTWERP

Huns Surrendered When Capt. Cooper Turned Picture Machine Toward Them

Heroic Photographer Recommended for War Crosses by Maj. Gen. Edwards

BOSTON, May 21.—Major General Clarence R. Edwards announced today that he had recommended Capt. Edwin H. Cooper for a Distinguished Service Cross for heroism in battle and for the Distinguished Service Medal for his contribution to the advancement of photography.

Captain Cooper, whose home is in Atlantic City, N. J., and who is at present attached to General Edwards' staff at the northeastern department, served as head of the photographic section of the American overseas army and later was head of the photographic section of the 26th Division. He had the distinction of being in every battle or sizable engagement with one exception, participated in by the American Expeditionary Forces.

Captain Cooper's citation refers particularly to the engagement at Terey in the Chateau-Thierry drive, when he and his force were ordered to go over with the front line attacking party. They had made several still pictures and were setting up a moving picture machine when four Germans suddenly appeared. Captain Cooper turned the camera toward them and they surrendered, mistaking it for a new style machine gun. On the way back with the prisoners, members of the force picked up a wounded American, established a dressing station under fire and later captured four more Germans.

TO BLOCK REPEAL OF WAR TIME PROHIBITION

WASHINGTON, May 21.—Notwithstanding President Wilson's recommendation for repeal of war-time prohibition insofar as it relates to wines and beer, the opinion seemed to gain ground at the capitol today that all repeal measures would be kept in committee until after July 1.

In the meantime, however, prohibition leaders planned to enact the legislation, which failed at the last session, for enforcement of the war-time prohibition act and the constitutional amendment. Senator Sheppard, democrat of Texas, author of the war-time act, said today he was confident enforcement legislation would be passed before July 1.

There was no disposition on the part of majority leaders, it was said, to hasten consideration of a repeal measure, nor were they impressed with the argument that it might be well to test out the saloon system from which hard liquors are to be eliminated when the whole country is to become dry by constitutional amendment next year.

The only apparent move was by prohibition leaders who were outspoken in their opposition to the president's recommendation, regardless of party lines. They let it be known that they would oppose any substitute liquor bill, and would make every effort to prevent favorable committee action on any measure which would delay national prohibition.

NC-4 NOT TO START TODAY

Plan to Hop Off From Ponta Delgada to Lisbon Postponed

One Engine Not Functioning Properly, Says Admiral Jackson

WASHINGTON, May 21.—Although weather conditions were extremely favorable, Lieut. Commander Albert C. Read was unable to get the seaplane NC-4 away from Ponta Delgada today for the 500-mile flight to Lisbon, Portugal, because of engine trouble, which developed when the ship was being tuned up for the start.

Despatches to the navy department indicated that the motor trouble was not serious and officials expected Commander Read to get away at daybreak tomorrow to complete the first transatlantic journey by air.

Commander John H. Towers, transatlantic flight commander, has recommended that the NC-1 which sank at sea, be stricken from the navy list as "lost at sea" and that the NC-3 be placed out of commission for rebuilding when she arrives in New York. The NC-2 is now being taken apart at Ponta Delgada, preparatory to being shipped home.

Lieut. Commander R. A. Lavender and Lieut. H. A. Sadenwater, members of the crews of the NC-1 and NC-3 will return to the United States on the first government vessel leaving Ponta Delgada. The dismantled NC-4 will be taken to New York on the U.S.S. Melville with Machinist L. R. Moore, a member of her crew, in charge.

The destroyer has been placed at the disposal of Commander Towers and the remaining members of two crews who will proceed to Plymouth, England, the objective port of the NC-4.

NC-4 NOW ONLY SEAPLANE IN RACE

WASHINGTON, May 21.—The naval seaplane NC-4, the only survivor of the fleet of three which last Friday left Trepassy Bay, N. F., for the Azores, on the first leg of the transatlantic flight, was awaiting today favorable weather conditions that would permit her to hop off for the second leg of the journey, Ponta Delgada to Lisbon.

The burden of carrying through the flight which gave such splendid indications of success until the three planes ran into a fog off the Azores early Saturday morning, was shifted solely to the NC-4 yesterday, with the announcement that the NC-1 had sunk and the NC-3, the flagship, had been so severely damaged, she then was being dismantled, preparatory to shipment back home.

The distance to Lisbon is about 900 miles, and it was stated the trip should be made in 10 hours.

PAWTUCKET BRIDGE TO BE BLOCK PAVED

Ever since the new Pawtucket bridge has been open to travel there has been persistent complaint about the dust emanating from its cinder roadbed. Commissioner Dennis A. Murphy of the street department announced today that the first steps in relieving this condition had been taken this morning when a gang of his employees began the work of tearing up the old paving in School street from Pawtucket street as far as the bridge and in the square beyond the bridge at the beginning of Mammoth road. The cinder bed on the bridge itself will also be removed.

Block-paving will be installed the entire distance. The work will necessitate the changing of the grade of School street. Although the Bay State Street Railway Co. agreed with the city at the time the bridge was opened to have double tracks cross the structure, it is understood now that the company wishes to have only single tracks there.

PASS WOMAN SUFFRAGE AMENDMENT

WASHINGTON, May 21.—The woman suffrage constitutional amendment resolution was passed today by the house after less than three hours' debate.

WASHINGTON, May 21.—The woman suffrage resolution before congress for more than 40 years was taken up in the house today as the first real work of the extra session. Four hours of debate and adoption of the resolution before adjournment were planned.

The resolution is the historic Susan B. Anthony draft, proposing submission to the states of an equal franchise amendment to the constitution. It was adopted by the last house, 274 to 156 on Jan. 10, 1918, but twice failed in the senate, first by two votes and then by one.

A large margin over the requisite two-thirds majority was predicted today. The vote was expected about 6 o'clock and large delegations of women from organizations favoring and opposing the resolution were in the galleries.

With favorable action in the house regarded as assured, senate leaders also were prepared to act promptly. They plan to secure a vote early next month and dispose of the resolution before work begins on the peace treaty, appropriation bills and other pressing measures.

With changes in the new senate suffrage advocates believe the resolution will succeed although by a small margin over the necessary two-thirds majority.

Rep. Mann of Illinois, republican, chairman of the house suffrage committee, was in charge of the resolution today in the house, while Rep. Saunders of Virginia was regarded as the opposition leader. The resolution was reported favorably yesterday at a busy meeting of the committee with republican leaders arranging to give it the right of way today.

It was pointed out that of the house membership today, 201 were members of the last house, 203 of whom had previously voted for the resolution, 109 against and one not voting.

PERSONAL MESSAGE OF APPRECIATION AND FAREWELL TO ALL MEMBERS FROM GEN. PERSHING

BOSTON, May 21.—A personal message of appreciation and farewell to members of the 26th (Yankee) division from General Pershing has been received at the headquarters of the Northeastern department, according to an announcement today. Sufficient copies of the message came for every member of the division to have one. The message reads in part:

As an individual, your part in the world war has been an important one in the sum total of our achievements. By your cheerful endurance of hardship and privation; by vigor, strength and indomitable will, made effective through organization and cordial co-operation, you inspired the war-worn allies with new life and turned the tide of threatened defeat into overwhelming victory. In leaving the scenes of your victories, I ask that you carry home your high ideals and continue to live as you have served—an honor to the principles for which you have fought and the fallen comrades you leave behind."

15 PER CENT INCREASE

Notices of Wage Increase Posted in Local Mills This Forenoon

Notices announcing a 15 per cent. increase in wages for all local cotton mill operatives were posted in the various Lowell mills this morning. The increase, which will affect about 25,000 men and women, will go into effect June 2.

Although it was learned from reliable sources last week and published in The Sun that a 15 per cent. increase had been voted by the local mill treasurers, official announcement of the action of the mill treasurers was not made until last evening, when President John Hanley of the Lowell Textile council received the following letter from Stephen T. Whittier, secretary of the Lowell Cotton Manufacturers' association:

Dear Sir: I have been instructed to advise you in reply to your letter of the 15th inst., that notices announcing an advance of 15 per cent. in wages to go into effect June 2, 1919, will be posted in the mills May 21.

It was also learned this morning that the American Woolen Co. had posted notices in its various mills to the effect that a 15 per cent. increase had been granted to its employees, the increase to go into effect June 2. It is figured that about 1200 operatives in this city and suburban towns will be affected by the increase, for the men and women to benefit by the increase are those employed at the Ray State Worsted Co., the Ramshead and Wamsott Worsted mills in this city and the Beaver Brook and Draught Waste Co. in Draught.

Notices Posted in Lawrence
LAWRENCE, May 21.—Wage raise notices were posted in a number of the smaller textile mills in this vicinity today in line with the 15 per cent. advance announced yesterday by the big plants here. LOWELL MAKES GAIN IN POPULATION

Without considering the abnormal increase in Lowell's population in 1918 owing to the large number of war workers here, the records of the city clerk's office show that figuring merely on births and deaths, this city made a gain of 742 in her population last year. While there were 2475 deaths recorded, on the other hand, there were 3215 births to offset this.

These figures are contained in the annual report of the city clerk for 1918 on births, marriages and deaths, made public today.

There were 1687 males born in that year and 1548 females. Ward 6 had the record birth rate. There were 379 male newcomers in this ward and 372 females, or a total of 751. Ward 1 had the lowest rate: 101 males and 97 females.

There were 35 pair of twins born in 1918 and Wards 5 and 6 were tied for honors, each having eight pair to its credit.

In addition to the 3215 births mentioned before, there were recorded also 67 other births, wherein the parents resided out of Lowell and 31 births which took place outside of Lowell but where the parents were Lowell residents.

There were 1291 marriages during the year; of these, 1071 were solemnized in Lowell and 130 outside of Lowell. The marriage record for each month is as follows: January, 102; February, 84; March, 51; April, 85; May, 83; June, 103; July, 93; August, 111; September, 130; October, 93; November, 112 and December, 76.

The record of deaths shows a total of 2475 for the year, 1270 males and 1205 females. A total of 157 Lowell people died out of town.

SALE OF 750,000 TONS OF AMERICAN STEAMERS SHIPS TO BRITISH SUNK BY MINE

NEW YORK, May 21.—The proposed sale to a British syndicate of the British-owned ships and assets of the International Mercantile Marine Co., a transaction involving five British companies and 750,000 tons of shipping, valued at approximately $125,000,000, was approved yesterday by the board of directors and finance committee of the company. A stockholders' meeting to vote on the proposition was called for June 15.

The transaction was declared by R. A. S. Franklin, president of the company, to be the largest record in the history of shipping.

American and Belgian vessels owned by the International are not affected by the projected transfer, according to Mr. Franklin. He added, he did not know what disposition the British syndicate intended to make of its acquisition, about 50 per cent. of which is represented by ship tonnage and the balance by securities and cash.

Ratification of the sale by the stockholders will end a year of negotiations, interrupted by an offer of the United States government for the ships which was recently withdrawn.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

Below is what the press agents of the different theatres say of the current attractions and of others to come.

B. F. KEITH THEATRE

Jovannah de Rajah, leader of all Hindu mystics on the American stage, is creating no end of interest at the B. F. Keith Theatre this week. His work is marked by speed and great accuracy, and Princess Olga, who also appears in the act, is quite the best in this line ever seen here. The Kinkaid Killies, of which our own Herb Webster is a member, are up to the standard. They sing and dance and the sound of the pipes is an inspiring one. And then there is "Vine" Daly, member of a famous theatrical family, whose singing is much admired and who, as a dancer, hasn't been excelled on the local stage this season. Walter Weems adds lustre to the bill with his imitable stories, imitatively told. Another excellent act is that offered by Harry Fleming & Co., "Under One Roof." Otto & Sheridan are two girls who sing and dance. H. J. and his brother are expert jugglers. Phone 28.

THE STRAND

Martin Johnson's wonderfully interesting and educational super-feature, "Carnivals of the South Seas," will be shown for the last time today at the Strand. It won't have been seen this remarkable screen, showing you should avail yourself of the opportunity today. Besides this feature, the photo Florence Reed in "The Girl in the Red Dress" is a thrilling drama in which the star is seen in some of her best emotional and dramatic endeavor. The comedy "The Girl in the Red Dress" is a bill of merit. Beginning tomorrow, Maxine Elliott in "The Girl in the Red Dress" and handsome Madeline Travers in "Love That Was" will be shown. Next week Fanny Ward in "Common Clay."

THE OVERLAND CLUB

The first annual dancing party of the Overland club was given last evening in Lincoln hall. The attendance was large. Markham's orchestra first gave a concert program and then furnished music for the enjoyable dancing program. William S. Robinson was in general charge of the floor and other arrangements assisted by the following men, Peter J. Gill, John J. McOsker, James Markham and John F. Roane, Jr.

One Cause of a Bad Complexion—the Remedy

"Look at a section of skin under the microscope and you will readily understand why cosmetics generally injure the complexion," says a well-known physician. "The skin, smooth as it looks to the naked eye, under the glass exhibits a lacework of tiny holes, mouths of myriads of little glands. To keep the skin healthy, these holes must be unobstructed, that the perspiration and natural oil can have free outlet. Should the glands be blocked up with irritating, gritty particles, a common result of using powders and creams, nature retaliates by causing a saltness, roughness, blotches or pimples. As a substitute for all cosmetics I recommend ordinary macerated wax. It not only does what the various face creams do, but it also keeps the pores free from the daily accumulation of dirt. Its peculiar absorbent action frees the pores from the daily accumulation of impurities, also absorbing the devitalized particles of surface skin. This produces a natural, healthy, youthful complexion. The only cure of this wax to be had at any drug store, usually suffices to rejuvenate the poorest complexion. It is put on nightly like cold cream and washed off mornings—adv."

Most women regard as a serious affliction and it certainly lessens the attractiveness of any woman; but sallow skin, blackheads, pimples and blotches are really signs of a disordered system. WORLD LADIES' NIGHT

The annual ladies' night program of the Men's Brotherhood of the Centralville M.E. church, which was held last evening in the vestry, proved a most enjoyable event, and was marked by the same success which has been registered on former occasions. The musical selections included numbers by Charles Cottrell, Mrs. Daisy Stevens and Miss Grace Clark. The Columbia boys orchestra also made a big hit. During the evening refreshments were served under the direction of the pastor, Rev. W. F. Whitney.

The prevalent opinion in Paris was that notwithstanding their protests, they ultimately would sign the treaty. Today they ask for an extension of time.

Orlando Returns to Italy

Premier Orlando of Italy has gone to Rome for a conference with members of his cabinet on "certain interior and foreign questions." It seems probable, therefore, that the peace terms will not be presented to the Austrian delegation before Friday, when he is due to return to Paris.

Indicates New Development

In view of the fact that every effort has been made to bring about an agreement on the Fiume-DeMatian question before the peace terms are laid before the Austrian mission, it may be assumed that Orlando's trip indicates some new development in the work of adjusting the situation.

Ordered Back to Vienna

Judge Schumacher, who represented Tyrol on the Austrian peace delegation, has returned to Vienna. He was bitterly attacked by the Italians and the French press for his activities against the Italians at Trieste, where he was stationed during the war. It is said that Chancellor Renner, chief of the Austrian mission, sent him back to Vienna in the interest of harmony.

BROCKDORFF ASKS FOR MORE TIME

PARIS, May 21.—Count von Brockdorff-Rantzau, head of the German peace delegation, has asked an extension of time for Germany to present her reply regarding the peace terms. He stated that further notes were being prepared and that it would be impossible to complete them by 1 p. m. Thursday, when the time limit is up.

It is believed, says the Havas Agency, that the request for the extension will be granted.

The note says the Germans desire more time to study a number of questions in the treaty which they have not had opportunity to examine.

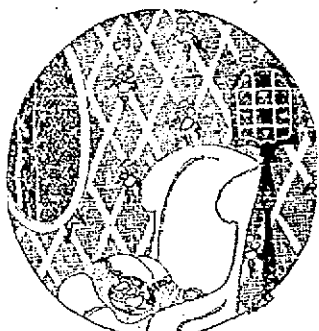

There was no official information regarding the decision of the allied and associated powers on the request.

ASK SWITZERLAND TO JOIN IN BLOCKADE

GENEVA, May 21.—(By the Associated Press.)—The allied and associated governments yesterday asked the Swiss federal council if it was ready to take rigorous measures concerning the blockade if Germany should refuse to sign the peace treaty, according to the Swiss Telegraph agency.

"This means," says the agency, "that the allies desire to know whether Switzerland will consent to prohibit all exports from and imports into Germany, except those permitted by the allies during the war."

KERENSKY APPEALS IN BEHALF OF RUSSIA

PARIS, Tuesday, May 20.—(By the Associated Press.) Alexander F. Kerensky and seven other members of the Russian constituent assembly and members of the Parisian union for the regeneration of Russia today issued an appeal to the democracies of the world for prompt action with a view to helping Russia out of her present chaotic condition. The appeal proposed that delegates from all the powers and including representatives of organized labor go to Russia and explain to the people and the different Russian governments the democratic aims the powers are pursuing.

The appeal says: "It should be stated categorically that the different governments repudiate the idea of any intervention likely to infringe upon the sovereign rights of Russia."

THE METHODIST CENTENARY DRIVE

The Methodist Centenary drive is making good progress in Lowell, and it is expected that the closing day of the drive, next Sunday, will find the city over the top. The campaign is one of national scope, and was launched to raise $105,000,000 for home and foreign missions and extend the work of the Methodist church abroad during the world reconstruction period. Lowell's quota is $71,850.

St. Paul's M.E. church has already subscribed for 75 per cent of its quota, and reports from the other M.E. churches of the city indicate that the drive will be a wonderful success here. The drive is being conducted along similar lines as the Red Cross and other welfare drives, and each church has placed teams in the field to assist in raising the desired total.

THIS COUNTRY IS SHORT ON BUTTER

(Special to The Sun)

STATE HOUSE, Boston, May 21.—The supply of butter on hand in the storehouse of the state is less by 375 per cent than that held at this time last year. In announcing this startling decrease yesterday, Herman C. Lythgoe, chief of the inspection division of the state department of health, said that in all probability it is explained by the fact that shipment of food to Europe is now unimpeded and the great demand for fats there is affecting the supply in this country.

According to the reports coming to the department, there was stored in Massachusetts warehouses on May 1, because of the absence of the necessary statute. Under the terms of the law enacted three years ago all warehouses storing food are required to make a monthly report as to their holdings. The result has been that much information has been secured tending to a more effective control of the food situation.

ARMY CAMP ON COMMON

Detachment From Devens

Pitches Tents, Cooks Meals,
Looks for Recruits

A detachment of six men from Camp Devens, in charge of Sergt. Wenzel, 36th Infantry, pitched camp on the Thorndike street side of the South common yesterday and after spending the day getting the camp in order cooked their supper and retired when taps was blown at 10 o'clock. Their outfit consists of two regulation tents and a field cooking range and their stay is indefinite. The reason for their coming is to stimulate interest in all branches of the army and accept enlistments and while in Lowell they will run a model camp and give people an opportunity to see healthy living conditions existing in the army.

The Lowell camp is similar to others being conducted by men from Camp Devens in charge of Lieut. Victor M. Friar in Lawrence and Haverhill and in those two cities the enlistment results have been most gratifying, especially in the former town, where 125 men have been accepted in less than two weeks. The Lowell camp, while not connected with the recruiting office down town, in Merrimack street, nevertheless, works in conjunction with it. The camp, however, aims principally to secure men for Camp Devens, where enlistments are now open in the infantry, medical corps, quartermaster corps and motor transport branches of the service. Men will be taken for foreign service if they so desire, and every possible bit of information desired will cheerfully be given. The detachment will be in the vicinity of the camp every day to talk with prospective soldiers.

Much stress is being laid on the opportunities to acquire thorough educations in almost every conceivable trade through army channels and the many schools now being operated by the war department for enlisted men will be explained in detail.

Lieut. Friar is planning a big military demonstration for Lawrence tomorrow afternoon, when he will take a crack infantry company, a medical detachment and band to that city to drill on the common, demonstrate first aid treatment and give a concert. A similar demonstration is being planned for Lowell in about two weeks. Lieut. Friar announced this morning. Capt. Howard S. Reed, United States Engineers, also was in Lowell today as a representative of the adjutant general's department in Washington and will remain at Camp Devens as advisor and general supervisor of all recruiting work being done by the Ager cantonment.

The new luxury tax law, in section 904, levies a tax on "women's and misses' apparel." The internal revenue authorities have admitted that what merchants regard as girls' apparel no tax need be collected. The question when a girl becomes a miss, however, has not been decided.

OFFICERS IN AIRPLANES TO TRAIL MOONSHINERS

WASHINGTON, May 21.—Moonshiners may soon have revenue agents in airplanes on their trail. Beseet with difficulties of finding illicit stills in mountain fastnesses of the south, revenue agents developed the idea of spying upon the hidden liquor makers from the sky. So Revenue Commissioner Roper asked the war department for the loan of several airplanes which it is proposed to equip with telephotographic apparatus. While flying low the planes will photograph machine stills, the pictures to be used as evidence when the moonshiners are brought into court.

The war department is considering the request, but meanwhile army camouflagers suggest that stills might easily be concealed beneath trees. So now the revenue agents are pondering this new difficulty and continuing to hunt moonshiners afoot.

WEAVERS BILL UP TO THE GOVERNOR

(Special to The Sun)
STATE HOUSE, Boston, May 21.—The weavers' specification bill, which has had an exceedingly stormy career in the legislature, was passed to be engrossed by a large majority in the house yesterday afternoon and now goes to Governor Coolidge for his signature, as it had previously been passed through all stages in the senate. The bill, which it has been estimated will mean more money for weavers, was reported adversely by the committee on labor, but was substituted in the senate through the efforts of Senator John Halliwell of New Bedford.

After it had been passed through all stages the senate re-considered its action and it looked as though the bill was doomed to defeat, as in former years. Senator Halliwell made a strong fight for the measure and finally won out by the narrow margin of one vote. In the house yesterday Rep. Babcock of Milton spoke against the bill, saying the committee went to New Bedford and concluded that the employers and employees were able to settle their own differences without need of legislation. Despite his attack upon the measure there was no further debate and the house proceeded to pass it through its final stage on a voice vote. HOYT.

at Jouy-sur-Morin (Seine-et-Marne), France, in July, 1918. While she was on duty at American Red Cross hospital No. 107, Miss Jeffery was severely wounded by an exploding bomb during an air raid. She showed utter disregard for her own safety by refusing to leave her post though suffering great pain from her wounds. Her courageous attitude and devotion to the task of helping others was inspiring to all her associates."

The president was instructed to appoint a committee of ten to arrange for the state convention to be held in this city in the course of the summer. The union voted a substantial sum for the Salvation Army drive.

DISCARDED CRUTCHES AFTER TAKING NEW RHEUMATIC REMEDY, WELDONA

Joints Stiff and Swollen From Rheumatism. Not An Ache or a Pain Today. Man Tells Experience.

"Well I want to tell you how grateful I am for the wonderful change Weldon made in me," said Henry Everett of 28 Spring Street, Everett, Mass., recently at the Weldon Headquarters.

Swollen Rheumatic Knees Respond to Weldon.

"I was in a very bad condition when I commenced to take this Weldon. My knee was swollen to almost twice its natural size, couldn't bend or move it. My back ached so that I could not bend over, or move in bed without agonizing pain.

"My shoulders were sore and stiff. It was impossible for me to get my hands to my head in the morning to comb my hair or put my coat on. My hands were also stiff and sore, especially in the morning. In fact I believe every muscle and joint in my body was sore and painful. My joints creaked like an old hinge and I was very much afraid that I would never be able to go about again.

"I was completely discouraged when I heard of this Weldon. I was just able to move about on crutches and even then it was torture. Every minute I was afraid someone would knock against me which would bring on another paroxysm.

"Two weeks after taking Weldon the swelling had almost disappeared from my knee. I continued to improve until I was able to discard my crutches. Gradually every sign and symptom of the disease left me so that I was able to return to work as well as ever. Enthusiastic about Weldon? Why wouldn't I be after suffering as I did and not finding anything until I took this Weldon."

Mr. Vincent will continue to meet the public every day and evening at Dows Drug Store to explain more about Weldon and give out the free book, "Germs of Rheumatism—How They Live—How They Die."

HEROIC NURSE HONORED

Miss Jane Jeffery Awarded

D. S. Cross for Extraordinary Heroism Under Fire

NEW YORK, May 21. Award of the Distinguished Service Cross to Miss Jane Jeffery of Brookline, Mass., a Red Cross nurse, for extraordinary heroism in remaining at her post, although wounded, to care for invalid soldiers after two of them had been killed and eight wounded during a German air raid on the hospital at Jouy, France, was announced here today by the American Red Cross.

Until last June she was stationed at the repatriation depot at Evien, France, and during the second battle of the Marne, in order to be of greater service, at her own request she was transferred to the more hazardous post at Jouy. She has been in France since October, 1917. Gen. Pershing's citation reads:

"For extraordinary heroism in action

IRISH CAUSE AT PARIS

M. J. Ryan Makes Statement
for Irish-American Delegation—Urges U. S. to Act

Statement by M. J. Ryan on behalf of the Commission.

The Irish American delegation has returned to Paris, and according to a despatch to the New York World, Hon. Michael J. Ryan has made a statement for the delegation in which he says:

"We have just presented to the American secretary of state, Mr. Lansing, our request, as delegates from the Irish race convention, that he lend us his good offices to secure from the British government safe conduct from Dublin to Paris of Edward De Valera, Arthur Griffith and Count Plunkett, the elected representatives of the Irish people, so that the claims of Ireland may be represented by her own lawfully chosen spokesmen to the peace conference."

Not Eager to See Premier

"Ten days ago we were told that this action would be taken without the formality of an application, but announcement of it was to be deferred until after the interview that Premier Lloyd George desired to have with us had taken place."

"We were informed this morning that the premier has had a change of heart and that his proposed interview with us will not take place. I may say his decision gives us a feeling of great personal satisfaction. We accepted his invitation to meet him with reluctance and only because of his eminence in the control of his country, but we were all deeply cognizant of the possible dangers attendant upon it."

"We could give him only our views and had made up our minds to make it very clear to him that the elected representatives of Ireland alone could speak for Ireland with authority and that we did not propose, even indirectly, to act for them."

Surprised at "Storm"

"That incident is closed, but what a commentary it is upon the pretended justice of British rule that the announcement of a meeting of three plain Americans with the British premier could shake the British empire with storms of wrath and excite the press and parliament to fever heat!"

"With the interlude of our Irish tour, which we never contemplated when we left the United States, we resume our work in Paris. We hope our request for safe conduct to Paris for President De Valera and his colleagues will be granted. When they come over, our work is ended."

"I do not assume that Great Britain will refuse permission to them. With what grace could England stand at the bar of the world and deny the right of Ireland to make her protest against England's rule? Is Ireland to be not only enslaved but muzzled?"

"Our request through our own secretary of state puts the issue squarely before the British government."

Will Ask Conference to Act
If refused, we shall ask our peace

commissioners to bring the case before the peace conference. We want the rule of justice and goodwill on earth and we are firmly convinced it would be for the best interest of England, and conducive to her very lasting prosperity as one of the two mightiest nations on the globe, to recognize Ireland as an independent nation, withdraw her army of occupation and let the lawful representatives of Ireland function for themselves and in peace."

"England cannot exterminate the Irish. She has tried and failed and now the sons and grandsons of the Irish exiles rise up in menace to England. Will she read and profit by no lesson of the past?"

"I never saw Ireland until two weeks ago. I am astonished at the unity of her people; their enthusiasm and zeal amount to almost fanaticism. I have had experience in American campaigns with great crowds, but no comparison could be made with them and those I saw in Ireland."

"For ten days, from early morning to late at night, I traveled the land. The country roadways were lined with peasants, men, women, boys, girls, little children. At night, especially on our trip from Athlone to Galway, bonfires burned on a hundred hills and at railway stations great crowds of men, with blazing torches, rallied and sang 'The Soldiers' Song.'"

"There is no country in the world so overwhelmingly one as Ireland," Mr. Ryan said in concluding. "The men who direct the new movement are of extraordinary ability. I addressed Dail Eireann (the new Irish parliament) in Dublin and listened to their debates and I would rate the general of his members' ability as far above that of any representative assembly I have ever attended. It is made up of poets, dramatists, essayists, farmers, merchants and barristers—all splendid and determined men."

No Religious Intolerance
"They are absolutely destitute of any semblance of religious intolerance. Every church and creed is represented in their membership and the whole history of Ireland is an eloquent protest against the possibility of an enactment by Irishmen of a law interfering with liberty of conscience or freedom of worship. I know of no place in the world where, I believe, individual property would be so secure as in a republican Ireland."

"I saw or heard of police brutality and witnessed in Dublin and Westport military displays that rivaled those of Prussianism. But these are the common, ordinary incidents of British rule in Ireland and are the outward evidences of an iniquitous system."

"It is the system which is the crime and it must go. So far as ordinary crime is concerned there is none in Ireland. The jails would be empty were they not occupied by political offenders; that is, by men and boys convicted by courts martial—ordinary law being largely suspended—of attending meetings or of marching and singing Irish ballads, or of crying out 'Up with the republic!'"

"I say with great regret that more murders and offenses against the person are committed in any one of our three or four leading American cities in ten days than in all Ireland in a year."

"Let the republic be recognized and the opportunity for peace and happiness be given the Irish people!"

Letter to Lansing

The Irish-American delegates are now awaiting an answer to their letter to Secretary Lansing, which runs as follows:

"Sir: On behalf of and representing the Irish race convention, held in Philadelphia on February 22 last, we respectfully request your good offices to procure from the British government safe-conduct from Dublin to Paris and return for Messrs. De Valera, Griffith and Plunkett, the elected representatives of the people of Ireland, so they may present the claims of Ireland for international recognition as a republic to the peace conference."

"As you know, the British government assented to our going to Ireland. We went for the purpose of conferring with the representatives of the Irish people and ascertaining their views for ourselves. At first hand, the conditions prevailing in that country, we have returned from there more desirous than ever that the authorized representatives of Ireland be given an opportunity to appear and present the case of Ireland to the representatives of the assembled nations."

"Awaiting a favorable and early reply, we are, sir, yours very respectfully."

"FRANK P. WALSH,
"EDWARD F. DUNNE,
"MICHAEL F. RYAN."

It is understood that Premier Lloyd George promised before the Irish-Americans left for Ireland, he would grant safe-conduct for the Sinn Féin envoys.

HELPED TO WIN THE WAR

2000 War Devices From Inventions in All Parts of World Sent to U. S. Board

WASHINGTON, May 21.—The latest war secret to leak out is how friendly inventors all over the world gave to the United States their ideas for death-dealing machines for the destruction of Germany.

A companion secret is how all these ideas were kept from the enemy by the "seven serious sphinxes" of the patent office. This was a board of seven men, of unquestioned loyalty and sworn to secrecy, empowered to examine and withhold patents on war machinery until the war was over and meanwhile turn ideas of promise over to the government.

More than 2000 devices which it was thought might be of value to the United States or the allies were passed upon and 200 were important enough to get before military authorities. Some of them, it is said, helped to win the war.

The ideas came from England, France, Switzerland, Hawaii, New Zealand, Australia, Mexico, Spain, Italy, Russia, Poland—and one came from Germany.

Of course, a larger number came from within the United States. Now that the war is over the patents are being allowed.

These activities of the patent office are disclosed in the current exposition of the interior department's work being held here.

SORE, SWOLLEN JOINTS GONE,
HERE IN LOWELL—GOLDINE

Francis Donovan, 746 Center St., Lowell, said:

"For four years I suffered terribly with kidney trouble and rheumatism. It seemed as though every joint in my body was lame. My hands were stiff, my knees were swollen, my hips ached, and my back ached. I could hardly get around at all, and when I sat down it seemed impossible to get up."

"My kidneys were very bad. I had to get up three or four times a night, the urine would distress me and was highly colored. My ankles would swell up and I felt weak all over."

"I had headaches a great deal, which came from much mornings and had lots of mucus in my throat. I was getting a little deaf and short of breath. I heard of the Goldine medicine for rheumatism at Carter & Sherburne's and got a bottle of the No. 2 in April. I began to notice improvement in my condition right away. The swelling began to leave my limbs and my joints weren't so sore. Now the swelling is entirely gone from one knee and I can walk nearly as well as I ever could."

"That Is Not All. The medicine helped my catarrh and kidney trouble. I get up only once a night now, there is no burning sensation, and the urine is a natural color."

"My backache disappeared with my kidney trouble and I am free from pain to my legs. I have been in months. I don't cough like I did and that dull, heavy pain over my eyes is gone. I don't feel so choked up and short of breath as I did. Nights I would lay awake hour after hour and couldn't get to sleep but now I sleep fine and feel rested."

"I work at the U. S. Cartridge Co. so if anyone wants to know if it is possible to get such results from a medicine tell them to come to my house or the factory and I will tell them."

FRANCIS DONOVAN

The fact that we publish names and street addresses with every testimonial, that we publish only statements from Lowell people, and are the only demonstrators in Lowell doing publishing, is evidence to your home people beyond a doubt that Goldine is the medicine that produces the results for rheumatism in Lowell. I leave it to your judgment. Don't forget the name or place.

SCALES WALL AND ESCAPES

Barney Charged With Murder of Policeman Flees From Suffolk Jail

Daring Dash for Freedom—Drops Down 30-foot Wall—Auto Whisks Him Away

BOSTON, May 21.—By the exercise of wonderful quick wit and exceptional agility and daring, Herman L. Barney, otherwise known as Louis Whitmore, 23 years old, of 19 Orvis road, Arlington, escaped from the Charles street jail at 2:30 yesterday afternoon, scaling a 30-foot wall. He was being held for trial on the charge of murder in connection with the shooting of Patrolman Charles E. Deininger, who was killed by automobile bandits in a garage in Chelsea on the night of Feb. 13.

Barney's trial had been set yesterday for Monday, May 26, but at the time of his escape he did not know his trial was so near at hand.

Short Start Enough
Barney had hardly lunched foot on soil outside the jail walls when the alarm was sent to the jail office and from there communicated by telephone to police headquarters.

Within three minutes after he gained his freedom jail officers were in pursuit and they traced Barney along Fruit street and through the yard of the William Blackstone school to Eaton street, where it was said he jumped into a waiting automobile and was driven away at great speed.

The young alleged murderer, from all indications, had calmly thought out and planned his escape without neglecting the smallest detail, and his complete success in an almost hopeless undertaking was due to his wonderful nerve.

In Cleaning Squad

Since Barney entered the Suffolk county jail in Charles street on Feb. 27 he has been a model prisoner. He was committed from the Chelsea district court, held without bail on the charge of first degree murder. He begged Sheriff John A. Keliher to give him some work to do and he was finally assigned to work with the inside cleaning squad. For about a month he has worked diligently and his behavior has been exemplary. Because he was a prisoner here for trial he was permitted to wear his own clothing, but when at work he wore a prison blouse and trousers over his own clothing to protect it.

Be Careful What You Wash Your Hair With

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali, which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is Multisided coconut oil shampoo, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap and beats anything else all to pieces. You can get this at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in, about a teaspoonful is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy, and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.—Adv.

Yesterday Barney was working in a gang of eight prisoners, being the only one held on a serious charge. It has been the custom to give these men two hours' recreation in the yard after they finished their work. They finished work yesterday at 2:30 in the basement of the east wing of the jail, or the men's prison.

Jail Officer Patrick Brogie was in charge of the squad and formed the eight prisoners in line and opened the door leading into the back yard of the jail.

The regular recreation part of the jail is being rolled, and meantime the prisoners exercise in the back yard near the jail stable.

Guard Dropped Behind

The eight prisoners marched out into the yard, five carrying their cleaning buckets and scrubbing brushes. The squad walked along the asphalt walk, while Guard Patrick Brogie remained behind to lock the basement door of the wing.

The walk runs along beside the one-story prison kitchen, which extends out from the main building. At the end of the kitchen is a passageway, 6 feet wide and 20 feet long, between the kitchen and the women's recreation grounds. This passageway leads back to a step-down entrance to the women's laundry, which is another one-story building adjoining the kitchen. The laundry building extends back to the Fruit street wall of the jail yard and adjoins the north wing or women's prison.

When the prisoners marched out along the walk they were to turn to their right and proceed to the prison stable and leave their buckets and work tools.

Barney's Dash for Liberty

In the moment when Guard Brogie turned his back upon them to lock the basement doors of the wing which they had come through, Barney, the young man charged with murdering Patrolman Deininger, slipped out of the line, turned to his left and ran into the passageway at the end of the kitchen.

In an instant he found footing upon two bolt-heads in the laundry wall and, grabbing a water conductor with one hand and a water faucet with the other, he climbed to the roof of the laundry. It was not a difficult climb, for reporters afterward did it easily. It was a climb of about nine feet.

Once upon the roof, he ran across it to the Fruit street wall of the yard, passing by open windows looking into the women's prison, or north wing. If the women prisoners there saw him, they failed to give an alarm.

When Jail Officer Brogie joined the other prisoners in the barn, he did not miss Barney, and from the stable door he could not see him on the roof of the laundry because a high board fence inclosing the women's playground concealed the escaping man.

Mystery About Hope

Once at the wall Barney used a scaling rope in getting over. The rope was fastened to a stick which, thrown over the iron prongs at the top of the wall, held fast with the rope dangling down the side of the wall. There is no knowledge as to how Barney obtained it. The opinion of the jail officials is that he had outside help and that the ladder was thrown over the wall for him. They claim there is no rope like it within the jail bounds and all rope there is securely locked up. They also scout the idea that it was brought in to him and he smuggled it about with him under his prison blouse wound around his body.

It is a very stout rope and about 30 feet long, being knotted at intervals of 10 inches or so.

What Doctor Pierce Has Done For Humanity

BY DOCTOR CRIFFS.

It has always seemed to me that Dr. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., should be placed near the top when a list of America's great benefactors is written. He studied and conquered human diseases to a degree that few realize. Whenever he found a remedy that overcame disease, he at once announced it in the newspapers and told where it could be bought at a small price. He did not follow the usual custom of keeping the ingredients secret, so that the rich only could afford to buy the medicine, but openly printed the name of each root and herb he used. And so today the names of Dr. Pierce and his medicines are widely known, and they stand for better health and better citizenship.

One of this great physician's most successful remedies is known as Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. These are little, sugar-coated pills, composed of Mayapple, leaves of aloe, root of jalap—things that Nature grows in the ground. These pellets are safe because they move the bowels gently, leaving no bad after-effects, as so many pills do. Very often they make a person who takes them feel like a new man or woman, for they cleanse the intestines of hard, decayed and poisonous matter that accumulates when one is constipated. If you are constipated, by all means go to your druggist and get some of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They may prove to be the very thing your system requires to make you well and happy.—Adv.

39 feet above the level of Fruit street, and it is surrounded by a wrought iron, double turn-in, prong fence of the regulation prison character.

Whether Barney carried his rope with him, or it was thrown over to him by outside confederates, it was ready when he reached the side of the wall. He quickly discarded his prison blouse, and grabbing the knotted rope, scaled the wall. Reaching the top of the wall, he pulled up the rope and dropped it down on the outside of the wall into Fruit street. Then he displayed most remarkable ability in surmounting the double-pronged iron fence, grabbed the rope and let himself down into Fruit street hand over hand.

Seen by a Guard

An incident which almost proved fatal to his hopes happened at the moment when he went over the iron fence on the top of the prison wall. James Mahoney, jail guard, was inside the women's playground of the jail yard. Glancing up Jail Officer Mahoney saw Barney just as he went over the iron fence and started down the rope into Fruit street. Mahoney was unarmed because he was working alone in the yard. He shouted at the top of his voice, and then hastened into the main jail yard and to the jail stable, where he telephoned to the jail office of the escape. Officer Brogie instantly mustered his remaining seven prisoners and marched them back into the east wing, while Officer Mahoney hastened to the office.

Upon putting his feet upon free soil in Fruit street, Barney quickly kicked off the prison pants and ran through Fruit street to the Blackstone school yard, crossed it to Eaton street, where he is supposed to have got into an automobile and was driven away. A girl nine years old told the jail officers she saw the man running along Fruit street, across the school yard and out into Eaton street, where he got into an automobile and was driven out into Cambridge street.

Permit Prompt

John J. Horgan, chief clerk of the jail, telephoned to police headquarters the moment he was told of the escape of Barney. He also telephoned the Arlington police to be on the watch for Barney, who might attempt to go to his home in that town.

Jail guards were sent in groups of three in all directions in the effort to capture Barney before he got out of the locality. Clerk Horgan commandeered the automobile of a clergyman which was in the yard and drove out through the surrounding streets in an effort to apprehend Barney. Deputy Sheriff John J. Casey and jail officers took up the pursuit.

Sheriff John A. Keliher immediately began an investigation.

It developed that the only persons who have visited Barney are his foster father and his attorney, Thomas P. Murphy of Cambridge. His foster father telephoned Sheriff Keliher the moment he learned of the boy's escape and he extended his sincere sympathy to the sheriff and said he would call on him at once.

The prisoners held at the jail with Barney in connection with the murder of Patrolman Deininger are John J. Dillon, alias "Chick," and Joseph Hurley, and they were interviewed by Sheriff Keliher, who grilled them for an hour, but obtained no information from them. They told the sheriff they had no knowledge Barney was planning an escape and surely had no part in it.

Minnie O'Brien, who has been credited with being Barney's sweetheart and who was also arrested in the case, is at liberty, she having furnished surety for appearance in court. A chauffeur who was arrested in the case is also out on bail.

Sheriff Keliher said he shall not worry about the escape of Barney, for he will surely recapture him. He said he shall not alter his policy of humanitarianism at the jail. He said Barney has always been a model prisoner. He was not convicted of a crime, and accordingly was treated with the kindness and consideration accorded all persons held awaiting trial.

Sheriff Keliher said that he has been waiting for means and authority to make improvements at the jail, and had they been completed Barney could not have escaped in the manner in which he did yesterday. He explained that he is short of employees at the jail, and yesterday afternoon, owing to the absence of jail officers by reason of sickness and days off duty his staff was curtailed.

When he escaped Barney wore a cap, blue trousers and a blouse. He is described as 5 feet 6½ inches tall and weighs about 105 pounds. His age is given as 23 years. He is an expert stenographer.

PRICE FOR CEMETERY LAND TOO HIGH

After a long drawn out discussion the cemetery commissioners at their special meeting late yesterday afternoon went on record as refusing to pay $69,000 for 32 acres of land owned by Virastus Bartlett near the present cemetery off Cowham street which the commissioners would like to secure to enlarge the present burial places. The assessed valuation of the land in question is but $3900.

Charles Rowland represented Mr. Bartlett and said that he was empowered to submit but one proposition to the commissioners—five cents a square foot for the 32 acres with an additional 20 acres thrown in. The commissioners felt that the 20 acres would be of

City Solicitor Regan was present and an opinion from him in which he stated that land could be seized by the right of eminent domain for cemetery purposes was read. Mr. Regan then explained the necessary procedure. There followed a long discussion in which Mr. Rowland maintained that he had only one proposition to advance. No agreement could be reached on the price and finally the meeting adjourned.

This has been proved over and over again during the war. They overestimate their physical strength and overtax it. Letters From Lowell Soldiers

Private John J. Dillon writes as follows to his mother, Mrs. John Dillon of 1028 Gorham street, from Westersburg, Germany, where he is serving with the fifth machine gun battalion:

Dear Mother: Just a few lines to let you know I am well and hope this note will find you all in the best of health. I am sending you a photo of myself and comrade, also a Lowell boy, Sgt. Henry H. Rice of 23 Dutton street. He was employed at the Appleton mills. He enlisted in June, 1917, and was one of the first members of the fifth machine gun battalion to come across and has been in every battle. He was wounded several times but wouldn't go to the hospital. Some grit, I'll say.

In the Champagne drive Oct. 3, 1918, the first morning "over the top," he smashed two fingers of his right hand and was in the fighting for 10 days with his hand in a sling. He has won a cross for bravery.

We were three days without water or food at one time and when we did get it he made us stay in our foxholes while he would bring our chow. He thought it was better for one to get "bumped" off than ten or more. He certainly is a pal to be proud of. I am going to bring him home with me. Recently we had our famous hike from Letanne to Westersburg, sleeping in barns and out of doors most of the time. We passed through Norton and slipped one night in Arlon, Belgium. Every place we passed through we got a great reception. The people called us their "liberators." We had our Thanksgiving dinner in Luxembourg and stayed two nights in Rodindack, Germany. From there we came to Westersburg where we had our Christmas dinner. We expect to remain here until it is time for us to sail for home.

Your loving son,
JOHN.

Corp. William Chain, who is overseas with Co. M of the 58th Infantry, Fourth Division, writes to The Sun as follows:

Dear Friend: Today is Sunday and I have just come back from church. I am now in Western, Germany. This is five miles from Coblenz. My division, the fourth, is taking the place of the 24, which has gone home. We are doing guard duty in two towns, Slaig and Western, and we sure make the Dutchmen snap around. They like us all the better for it. I certainly have done a lot of hiking over here. We hiked from France into Germany in 15 days with a pack, gas mask, helmet and overcoat in a place called Churich on the Moselle river. We stayed here three months and then hiked to Western, 40 more miles. The next time we move I hope we move toward home. All the boys are longing for that day for we have had our share of the war and want to get back to the good old U.S.A.

On the 15th of July we went "over the top," the beginning of the big drive. We were on several fronts and were then relieved by the 77th Division and went back for a two weeks' rest in St. Jean. From there we went to the St. Mihiel front and then to the Argonne forest where I was gassed. That forest sure was a hellhole and we were glad when we were relieved on Oct. 22.

The weather here is very cold and today it is snowing hard and it is terribly muddy. I have been receiving The Sun every day for two months and it sure is a treat. I enjoy reading it very much and then I pass it around to other boys in the company. Before we get through with it half of the company has read it.

Yours,
WILLIAM CHAIN.

Private Socrates Vaites

Taxiarchis Protapapas of 435 Market street has received the following letter from Private Socrates Vaites, who is overseas with the 345th Machine Gun Battalion:

Dear Friend: We are going home, according to the latest dope around here now. We are turning in our extra equipment and the stock and wagons will be turned in in a day or so. I can think of nothing else but home. Enclosed you will find some notes I made. I came near getting a D.R.C. by capturing a machine gun and killing the gunner, only the German had died because he was hit by a shell some days previous. When I found myself in front of his gun I thought I was up against a machine gun nest, so I filled my pistol and "killed" him again. Yours
S. VAITES.

ENGINEERS PROTEST PRICE OF STONE

An important conference between the selectmen of Billerica and Engineers F. C. Pillsbury, Sahin and Delano of the state highway commission was held in the town Monday relative to the completion of the Lowell street construction job, which was started last year by the town and highway and county commissioners. The engineers protested against the alleged exorbitant price paid for stone by the town and they informed the selectmen that under the circumstances they will not share the expense. The stone was purchased by Contractor Pallato, who was unable to compete with large concerns.

RECEPTION TO THE ENGINEERS

Capt. Frank C. Pelletier and His Men Honored at Associate Hall

Speeches by Mayor Thompson and Others—Hon. Jas. E. O'Donnell Toastmaster

Capt. Frank C. Pelletier and the other Lowell "boys" who served in the 14th Railway Engineers in France and who have the distinction of being a part of the first American unit to be under shell fire in France, were tendered a rousing reception last evening by the railroad men of this city. The reception was in the form of a banquet held in Associate hall, a sort of a family gathering, so to speak, and it proved a most enjoyable affair. All formalities were set aside and a general good time was in order. Some of the boys who had just completed their day's work and others who were about to start were attired in their working clothes, but that did not phase them a bit, for they were there for one purpose, and that was to pay a tribute to their brethren who had done so much to win the great world war.

The banquet was attended by about 200 men, representing all branches of railroad work. In the early part of the evening a very appetizing dinner served by M. A. Lyden, the well known caterer, was discussed and later post-prandial exercises, including vocal selections and speeches, were held, the speakers being Hon. James E. O'Donnell, who acted as toastmaster, Mayor Thompson, Capt. Frank C. Pelletier, Sergt. John J. Donovan and Frank Brown. Vocal selections were given by Commissioner James E. Donnelly, Martin Mazuire and Edward Donohoe. John Healey rendered piano selections and acted as accompanist during the evening.

The post-prandial exercises were opened by John H. Shea, who introduced the toastmaster. In opening Mr. O'Donnell complimented the soldiers for their efficient work in France and stated that they reflected credit upon the city, the state and the nation. He spoke about their willingness to enlist and brought back reminiscences of the send-off given them at Rockingham park a short time before they left for "over there." "You were the men," he said, "who took care of the transportation of food and troops through the fighting lines and it is with great credit that you have accomplished your duty."

The first speaker introduced by the toastmaster was Mayor Thompson, who was given quite a reception. His Honor said there is no man in this city who is not connected with railroading who is more entitled than he to become a member of the brotherhood, and he gave his reasons for such a statement. He said that when he was a boy living at Ocean Park, Me., there was a small railroad going through the village and it was his duty to put up a flag at the station. "And when the engineer or fireman was having his dinner," he continued, "I rang the bell and blew the whistle. I can say right here that the first dollar I earned was on the railroad."

Addressing the soldiers, His Honor said: "We are proud of you men who have been across. We were proud when you enlisted and went away because you were the very first to leave America for the cause of democracy and now that you have accomplished your work heroically, we are more proud to welcome you home. As the mayor of the city, I extend you a cordial welcome as well as my congratulations, and in behalf of the city I thank you for the valuable services rendered this country and the allies."

Mr. O'Donnell then came back with the statement, that he too was entitled to a membership card in the brotherhood for "my father was a railroad man up to about 25 years ago," he said, "and when I was a boy I was always on a train."

When Captain Pelletier was introduced he was cheered to the echo. "You're not going to hear any oratory," he said in opening, "for all I am good for is to shoot off my wind around the yard, as some boys say." The captain then related the incidents in connection with his enlistment two years ago and told of the organizing of his company, its sojourn at Rockingham park, its voyage across the "pond" and the great reception tendered the boys in London. He stated that the 14th Engineers was the first American unit to go under shell fire at the front, being ahead of the 12th Engineers by about 2 1/2 hours. "In March, 1918, we took part in the great drive," he said, "and the boys did excellent work. Shortly after our arrival across we took hold of the railroads and I found that our hardest problem was to have the American engineers and men run their trains slowly. We knew the territory from a to z for if we didn't we would have lost 50 per cent of our men."

"We had several narrow escapes while on duty, but fortunately we always managed to pull through all right. I remember we had pitched camp in a small town near Boulogne and we had not been there more than 25 minutes when we received orders to move quickly. We followed instructions and we had no sooner left than the Germans dropped shells at the very spot where we had pitched our tents. En route we were shelled by the boches and two of the boys of the regiment were killed while a few were wounded. We kept the railroads going and we dug trenches for the soldiers, and one of our biggest jobs was to keep the boys away from the front, for they wanted to fight, but we were not there to shoulder the rifle. At Calais we built a broad gauge railroad around the city and later we built a small bridge across a river."

The captain then related his experiences in a flight in an aeroplane over the German lines under heavy fire. In concluding, Captain Pelletier said he was very fortunate for he lost but one member of his company and that was Corp. Surprenant, who was taken ill with pneumonia. "While on duty I was strict with the boys, but they returned with more friends than I had when I left. I am overjoyed with the mark of esteem you are showing us this evening and I hope that when I take up my duties of yardmaster next

Sergt. Donovan, was also given a rousing reception. His speech dealt with the trouble he had in enlisting on account of his age, and said in order to go through he was forced to make a mistake of a few years. He said while in France he always tried to look after his work as he did after Pawtucketville, when he was patrolling that district. The last speaker was Agent Frank Brown, who extended his felicitations and best wishes to the soldiers.

Those in whose honor the festivities were conducted were as follows: Capt. Frank C. Pelletier, Sergt. Thomas J. Baxter, Sergt. Alden Barris, Sergt. Ralph B. Smelling, Sergt. John J. Donovan, Horseshoer John J. Kennedy, Wagoner Charles A. Hutchins, Privates Arthur L. Messier, John W. Stocks, Arthur Backus, John J. Cryan, Albert Reid and Edward Leblanc.

The committee in charge of the affair consisted of Albert J. Caron, chairman; Sydney I. Aldrich, treasurer; J. M. Shea, F. Dean and T. B. Murphy.

Famo Destroys Dandruff Bacilli

Science has perfected a wonderful preparation that stops Seborrhea (the medical term for dandruff) by killing the dandruff microbe.

Its name is FAMO, and it is a product of one of the famous pharmaceutical houses of Detroit.

The ingredients have never been used on the scalp before but they are well known to physicians.

As fast as nature grows new hair the Seborrhea germ kills it off.

Unless you destroy the germ with FAMO, the new hair will grow weaker and weaker and baldness finally will result.

FAMO destroys the dandruff bacilli and makes new, luxuriant hair grow. FAMO actually retards grayness. It contains no alcohol. It stops all itching of the scalp.

FAMO should be used daily by every member of the family, even by those who have no dandruff. It keeps the hair healthy and beautiful and prevents seborrhea.

FAMO is sold at all toilet goods counters, also applied at the better barber shops. It comes in two sizes—a small size at 35 cents and an extra large bottle for $1.

Seborrhea is the medical name for a morbidly increased flow from the sebaceous glands of the scalp. The seborrheic excretion forms in scales or flakes and is commonly known as dandruff.
